Cashin Says Carey Gave Highest Tax, Boosted Valuation

Raps Democratic Nominee for Mayor for Delivering Misstatements or Lack of Knowledge

Addresses Club

Corporation Counsel Is Heard at Eighth Ward's Meeting

After the Carey administration in 1932 had established the highest tax rate in the city's history—$56.18—the following year the Carey administration in order to reduce the tax rate raised the assessments "to the tune of $1,232,540" declared Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin in an address Tuesday evening before the Eighth Ward Republican Club.

The corporation counsel said that the Democratic candidate for mayor had spoken about tax rates and how the Heiselman administration had fooled the people with the tax rates. Mr. Cashin said that the record is there; asked examination and a decision whether the Heiselman administration fooled the people or whether the Carey administration did.

The corporation counsel accused Mr. Carey of making misstatements or possessing a "wanton ignorance of the very foundation of municipal finance."

Cashin's Address

Corporation Counsel Cashin's address follows:
In a speech made last Thursday night by the Democratic candidate for mayor, he is reported to have criticized the Heiselman administration for increasing the city debt, and stated that the Heiselman administration had issued during its term of office the sum of $1,564,379.91 in bonds. Appended to his speech was a summary of how these figures were arrived at, and at the top thereof were the following figures:

Issue	Purpose	Amount
1935	Debt Equalization	$1,115,000
1936	Debt Equalization	80,000
1937	Debt Equalization	25,000

Let us examine these first three items, and see what, if anything, there amounts to. There became due in 1935 $1,115,000 in bonds, in 1937 $177,379.92 and in 1938 $147,379.92. These amounts in each respective year represented obligations contracted by administrations previous to the Heiselman administration and some by the Heiselman administration. This meant that in each of those respective years, the respective sum for each year had to be placed in the budget.

The legislature in its wisdom saw fit to pass what was known as the Debt Equalization Law, which in effect permitted cities such as Kingston to issue refunding bonds, the proceeds of which could be used to pay bonds maturing in the years 1936, 1937 and 1938, and permitting cities, such as Kingston, to spread the payment of those bonds over future years. The purpose of this law was to give greater leeway to cities in the payment of their obligations, because of the unusual strain upon their finances at that time by work and home relief caused by the depression. Kingston, under the Heiselman administration, was the first city to take advantage of this law, and permission was obtained from the comptroller of the State of New York to have the Common Council of the City of Kingston pass a law permitting the issuance in the years 1935, 1936 and 1937 of Debt Equalization Bonds. Accordingly, bonds were issued in 1935 in the sum of $1,115,000, and the proceeds thereof were used by the city in 1936 to pay bonds maturing in that year, and in addition to that sum the City of Kingston had to place $70,000 in its budget to make up the difference between $1,115,000 and $1,185,000, which was the total amount of bonds due in that year. Again in 1936, $80,000 in bonds were issued and the proceeds thereof were used to pay bonds becoming due in 1937, and to that figure was added the sum of $97,379.92 in the budget to make the total of $1,177,379.92 which was the total amount of bonds due in the year 1937. Again in 1937, we issued $25,000 in Debt Equalization Bonds, and the proceeds thereof were used in the payment of bonds due in the year 1938, and there was added to that amount the sum of $122,379.92 in the budget to make the total figure of $147,379.92, which was the total amount of bonds due in the year 1938.

Though she doesn't "know Browder personally," Mrs. Hester G. Huntington (above), social registerite, posted the $7,500 security which freed Earl Browder, Communist leader, after his indictment in New York City on passport fraud charges. She said she acted as a matter of principle.

Farmers Postpone Strike Action, Say They Can Manage

Meeting Held Last Evening at Accord Hall Between Two Groups; Harmony Keynote of Talk

Local action in joining a possible statewide milk strike will be deferred pending "developments upstate," it was decided last night at a meeting of Roundout Valley dairymen in the Accord Community Center.

Both members of the Ulster county unit of the Dairy Farmers' Union and a group representing the Dairymen's League were among the estimated 100 producers at the meeting. Similar meetings of various other county units of the state are scheduled to meet this evening to decide whether to withhold milk from distributors and co-operatives, who have not met the $2.15 figure, which the producers feel was the compromise price agreed upon in settlement of last August's strike.

A spokesman for the local unionized group said this morning that the Roundout Valley producers "decided there will be no strike locally at this time." He added that the general sentiment of the meeting appeared to be to the effect that "since prices are now higher, we don't feel the loss of 6 1/2 cents on the hundredweight, sufficient reason to strike at this time."

"Everyone appeared pleased," said one of the unionized group, "with the prospects of obtaining 25 cents per hundredweight differential, which will eventually be paid to Roundout Valley dairymen and which the original marketing order does not provide for."

Discussions on this extra amount to be paid for extra milk were marked with a note of harmony between members of the unionized group and producers connected with the Dairymen's League.

Mead Says Federal Relief for Drouth Stricken Farmers Should Come Soon

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Senator Mead (D-N. Y.) said today that federal relief for drouth-stricken farmers in New York and other states should be forthcoming shortly as a result of assurances given by President Roosevelt to members of a joint congressional emergency committee.

Mead, a member of the committee which conferred with the President yesterday, said the Chief Executive showed keen interest in the plight of farmers in his home state.

The President told of his own experiences with the drouth, which destroyed thousands of young seedling trees on his Hyde Park estate and damaged crops which supply the table at the big family home, provide food for employees on the place and feed for cattle and horses.

The relief program discussed at the conference, Mead said, called

Berlin Authorities Get in Touch With Red Officials About Ship's Status

(By the Associated Press)
The United States today was told that Germany and Soviet Russia were consulting about the freighter City of Flint, first American vessel captured as a prize of the European War.

In response to American inquiries the German foreign office indicated Berlin and Moscow were discussing the fate of the freighter which a German sea raider seized and sent to Murnansk.

German reports said the City of Flint, carrying a cargo for England, had disposed of valuable North Sea and Baltic charts, making it necessary for her captors to sail her to the north Russian port.

Losses to British shipping and inconclusive western front fighting were the only developments of sea-saw warfare between Germany and the British-French allies.

Four Ships Are Sunk

Four British merchantships were reported sunk, three of them within 80 miles of Gibraltar. The new losses and indications that fast German warships are loose as raiders on the high seas caused concern in Britain.

The British air ministry reported night scouting flights had been carried out over Berlin and other German cities.

Only sporadic fighting flared on the western front. Germany said one company of French had been driven back from German soil. The French reported "patrol and artillery activity" west of the Saar basin area.

Appoints Governor

Adolf Hitler appointed a governor to rule over the part of Poland which was not incorporated in the Reich after Germany and Soviet Russia divided the conquered nation.

War in western Europe and Russia's presence in half of Poland worked toward bringing some unity to the traditionally troubled southeast quarter of the continent.

Authoritative Budapest sources said Italy and Yugoslavia had promised Hungary aid if a threat develops from across the Carpathian mountains which divide Hungary from Russia-Poland. Though there has been no overt indication of such a threat, Italy and Yugoslavia were said to feel they needed Hungary to act as their barrier to further Communist infiltration.

Some uneasiness was evident in Rumania, where a Bulgarian minority was causing trouble in the Dobruja region which Rumania won from Bulgaria in the World War.

King Boris dissolved the Bulgarian parliament following formation of a new cabinet by Premier Kiossevanoff. There were reports of increasing cooperation between Bulgaria and Russia.

On Way to Berlin

Moscow, Oct. 25 (AP)—It was learned today that a Soviet economic commission of 45 heads by Shipping Commissioner I. T. Tsvetkov left by train last night for Berlin and that 15 additional delegates were expected to leave today or tomorrow.

Mrs. Churchill in Crash

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The position of the treasury October 23: Receipts, $17,513,164.19; expenditures, $43,814,508.48; net balance, $1,905,403,963.21; working balance included $1,206,077,872.94; custom receipts for month, $23,636,437.12; receipts for fiscal year (July 1), $1,686,004,851.09; expenditures, $3,040,436,961.24; excess of expenditures, $1,354,432,109.28; gross debt, $40,964,964,869.31; increase over previous day, $561,639.16; gold assets, $17,026,564,839.45.

Youth Hurt on Bicycle

Harry Steeger of 41 Gage street suffered an injured back Tuesday afternoon while riding his bicycle down Flatbush avenue, when the machine ran into the curb at the intersection of Farrelly street, and he was hurled from the bicycle. The police department received a call and one of the radio cars responded, but the youth had been taken to his home by a relative.

Browder Trial Nov. 27

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Trial of Communist Earl Browder, charged with obtaining a passport through false representations, has been set for November 27. The head of the communist party in this country appeared nervous yesterday on release from a federal detention cell after bond of $7,500 had been posted by Mrs. Hester G. Huntington.

Hungary Is Sure Of Italian Help To Drive Off Reds

Presence of Soviet Troops in Poland Unifying Three Powers Against Invasion of Communism

Slavs Will Help

Yugoslavia Also Regarding Advance of Soviet Army With Alarm

Budapest, Oct. 25 (AP)—The presence of Soviet Russian troops on the Polish side of the Carpathian mountains is unifying the efforts of Hungary, Yugoslavia and Italy to prevent any advance of communism into southeastern Europe. It was said authoritatively that should there materialize any threat of a Russian move into Rutenia, former Czechoslovak province which Hungary occupied last March, Hungary would have the aid of Italy and Yugoslavia, if it became necessary for her to take up arms.

These quarters said Hungary had received such assurances from Italy and Yugoslavia.

Hungary Is Determined

Hungary, an anti-communist stronghold since the communist rule of Bela Kun in 1919, it was said, determined to make the Carpathians a barrier to any further westward advance of communism.

This objective, it was said, is supported by Italy and Yugoslavia, the one Fascist, the other strongly anti-communist, because they fear that if the red army once passes this natural bulwark, it would find little to stop it short of the Adriatic.

It also was said authoritatively that should there be a Russian invasion of the Rumanian province of Bessarabia, Hungarians probably would be impelled to march to the Carpathian range in that country—through the western Rumanian province of Transylvania.

No Clear Threat

So far, there has been no clear indication that such a threat, to Rutenia or Bessarabia, would develop. Rumania has received official assurances that Russia does not intend to make any demands against her, and the Russian press has been emphasizing a desire for more friendly relations with Hungary.

But red troops in considerable numbers have been reported across the border from Rutenia, largely populated by Ukrainians such as inhabit the southern part of Poland. The red army "liberated" the Ukrainians in Poland during the German invasion.

New tension also has been reported in Rumania, despite Russian assurances, where it was reported by political circles that "important developments are imminent in the Balkans." King Carol's envoys to Bulgaria and Turkey are summoned home for consultation.

Authoritative quarters reflected the widely expressed view among Balkan diplomats that if it were Russia's purpose to thrust her influence into the Balkans, she would move as soon as she has disposed of her negotiations with Finland and when Germany is occupied by Great Britain and France.

SS. City of Flint in Dramatic Sea Saga

Based on best available information, map shows probable routes followed by British cargo ship Stonegate and U. S. freighter City of Flint, both of which fell victim to sea raiders. Dotted line marks route of Stonegate, out of Valparaiso, headed for England. East of Panama she picked up survivors of unidentified British ship which had been torpedoed. Later she was sunk by a German raider which took aboard both British crews. Solid line marks route of City of Flint from New York toward England. Raider captured her and took her first to Tromsø, Norway, then to Murnansk, Russia.

Close Check Kept On Price Trends; May Fix Charges

More Careful Watch Kept During War Abroad; Food Jump Noted in Some Areas

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—War abroad and a stepping up of demand at home have set the government departments to keeping a much closer watch on price trends than they maintain in normal times.

The labor department, for instance, has stepped up its machinery to provide a 24-hour check of price changes. Several other departments maintain price reporting systems, but most of them are interested only in certain phases of current conditions. The labor department is interested in all factors that go into raising or lowering the cost of living.

Food Takes Jump

Retail prices have moved up more in Boston since the war started than in any other city on the labor department chart. Eleven on selected foods show an average leap in cost of 16.8 per cent in the Boston area since August 15. Washington stands second with a jump of 16.4 per cent.

The list covers sugar, flour, lard, pork chops, butter, navy beans, chuck roast, coffee, bread, potatoes and cocoa. Denver stands third with a 14.7 per cent rise, and Cleveland fourth with 14.4.

Houston, Tex., has had the smallest increase with 8.8 per cent for the 11 items. Detroit next with 9.2, New York city third lowest with 9.4, and Los Angeles fourth with an even 10 per cent.

Some foods show a decrease, but not in Washington and Denver, where they all stood still or went up. Bread showed the smallest change. It was unchanged in every place but New York, where it went down 3 per cent.

Local Situations

Behind these price rises lie all sorts of local marketing situations, but some economists are blaming them on an expected increase in demand that would be brought about by the war.

In many respects, this has not fully materialized. There remains a farm surplus with plenty of wheat and corn, pigs and cattle. Yet, the cargo of the captured City of Flint indicates that the foreign demand exists for lard, cereals, canned goods, flour and cotton.

May Fix Prices

The erratic course of prices and the close watch being kept on them by the government is leading to behind-the-scenes discussions of creating a price fixing agency.

Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, has already hinted at price control in several speeches. Like-minded men in several other departments have discussed the idea.

Approves Appropriation

Stockholm, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Swedish Parliament today approved an appropriation of 36,000,000 crowns (about $9,000,000) for the purchase of 102 military planes of various types.

Robot Gets Stuck

Swiss Marvel at Gadget

Berne, Switzerland, Oct. 25 (AP)—Swiss military authorities marvelled today at a new German invention—a "robot pamphleteer."

They exhibited a balloon, 10 feet in diameter and equipped with a large clock operating a mechanism designed to drop propaganda pamphlets at hourly intervals. Apparently destined for France, the balloon was driven over the Swiss border by adverse winds and found by farmers in a field near Lake Constance.

For some reason, the Swiss said, the mechanism failed to release the packages of pamphlets, still attached to the balloon. The pamphlets contained copies of Adolf Hitler's October 6 Reichstag speech—printed in French.

Beverage Income Is Down $16,000

State Comptroller Gives Explanation, Cites License Change

A draft for Ulster county's share of the alcoholic beverage tax money for the quarter ended September 30, received by County Treasurer Pine, shows a payment of more than $16,000 less than that received in the like quarter of last year. The total for the past quarter is $44,192.85 as against $60,669.99 for the third quarter of 1938.

An explanation of the difference is given by the state comptroller, who says it is due to the fact that the license period has been changed in the five counties of Greater New York, making the gross revenues for the period about $5,000,000 under a year ago. The money will be distributed among the towns of the county and the city of Kingston as follows:

Heavy Police Guard Thrown Around Huge Liners to Prevent Sabotage

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—A doubled police guard today protected the British Queen Mary and French Normandie, largest passenger liners in the world, against possible sabotage.

Squads of 25 police and two sergeants were assigned to day and night pier guard duty after Lieut. Commander Coddington of the U. S. naval intelligence reported his office had learned one of the two ships would be sabotaged "within the next few weeks."

The 81,235-ton, 975-foot Queen Mary, camouflaged a battleship gray, and the 83,423-ton, 961-foot Normandie, still flaunting her bright red funnels, are tied side by side in their Hudson river berths. Both ships have been retired from passenger service by the war.

Walden Boys Have Wild Crime Career In Two Counties

Youths Are Charged With Four Auto Thefts and Breaking in Store, Lumber Company

Two Walden school boys, 10 and 14 years of age, led the police officers of two counties a merry chase Monday and Tuesday but finally landed in the police net after a 24-hour career of crime which resulted in the theft of four automobiles, breaking into at least two places in southern Ulster and causing the State Police and Newburgh city police much concern.

Both boys had been in difficulty before and Sergeant E. J. Hulse to whom the automobile thefts had been reported knew the identity of the boys but was unable to locate them so fast did they change cars and retrace their steps in their dash about Ulster and Orange counties.

Enjoying Show

Tuesday afternoon while the police were looking for the boys they were enjoying a show in Newburgh on some of the money which they allegedly took from one of the places which had been reported entered. It was not long after they left the show that they were picked up by a man named Wells of Newburgh who found the boys near Highland Falls when they were unable to start a Newburgh taxi which they had taken a short time before. They were picked up by Wells who brought them to Newburgh and turned them over to Officer Baker of the Newburgh police force.

The pair was charged with juvenile delinquency and were held for a hearing in Newburgh today. Since both are under 16 their case will come before the Children's Court in Orange county and also in Ulster county (Continued on Page Nine)

"The action was taken," Mason shouted, "and that settles it." Starnes suggested that personalities be omitted from the argument. Mason said there was nothing personal in his remarks.

The question of whether those named on the list were league members or whether many were just persons to whom the organization sent its literature finally cropped up in the committee itself as a new fuel for already overheated tempers to feed on.

Rep. Mason explained there had seemed to be some uncertainty about the list so he had had it "carefully checked."

"It is," he said, "a list of the membership of the American League for Peace and Democracy, the local chapter, and it is a membership list only."

Dempsey inquired sharply whether the list did not include the names of many who, though not members, had contributed to the league for various causes, such as aid of Spanish refugees. Mason repeated emphatically that it was a "membership list only."

Dempsey Says Committee's Act Likely to Do Harm to Non-Members

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Dies committee investigating un-American activities published a Washington "membership and mailing list" of the American League for Peace and Democracy and one of its own members promptly accused it of taking a "most damnable" and "most un-American" action.

The accusations were made by Rep. Dempsey (D., N. M.), who was absent when the list of 563 names was given out soon after the committee's morning's session opened.

The list made no distinction between those government employees named on it who might be members of the Washington branch of the league and those who might merely be on the league's mailing list here.

Previously the committee had charged the league with being dominated by communists. League officials have consistently denied this charge.

Decides on Publication

The committee, meeting behind closed doors, decided yesterday to give out the list. It was entered officially in the record today under the title "membership and mailing list" and simultaneously given to reporters.

When Dempsey, arriving a few minutes late, heard about this he said he had protested earlier about releasing the names and that Chairman Dies (D., Tex.) had promised to delay distribution until 10:30 a. m. (E. S. T.).

"I'm afraid," Dempsey said heatedly, "that in doing this, we not only release the names of some members (of the league) but those who contributed to Spanish refugees and are not members of the league at all."

"I want to protest this as most un-American," Dempsey said, "and anybody who is innocent, I think it is most reprehensible for this committee to do this. As a member of this committee I want to say that at no time am I going to smear anybody. It is a most damnable thing."

No Distinction

Among those whose names appeared on the "membership and mailing list" without any distinction as to whether they fell into the category of "members" or merely that of recipients of the league's mail were Oscar L. Chapman, assistant secretary of the interior department with a salary given as $9,000 a year; Edwin S. Smith, member of the National Labor Relations Board, and Louis Bloch, member of the Maritime Labor Board, both with salaries listed as $10,000; and Mordecai Ezekiel, director of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, $8,000.

When Dempsey had assailed publication of the list, Rep. Mason (R., Ill.) who first suggested it shouted at him "it's too bad you didn't go on record yesterday."

Dempsey, referring to his late arrival today, retorted "you were not sufficiently courteous to wait three minutes."

Dies was absent from the hearing room and Representative Starnes (D., Ala.) banged vainly for order.

Mason declared that the committee's decision to give out the list was by a majority vote—to which Dempsey retorted, "a majority of those present."

'And That Settles It'

Carey Delivers Address In Ponckhockie Section

The speech delivered by Eugene B. Carey at a Democratic rally held in Democratic headquarters in the Fifth ward Tuesday evening was as follows:

Forty-eight years ago I first saw the light of day and the rays came through a window of a home not far from here in the historic Ponckhockie section of our city, where my father built a home and settled in 1891.

It was in Ponckhockie where the Indians lived and played. At the foot of Delaware avenue where the Rondout Yacht Club now stands the British landed 162 years ago. They marched up Delaware avenue, on up Broadway to the now uptown section of our city and devastated the settlement of those days by fire and shell. Following the Indians and British came many families, of a more quiet and peaceful nature, who settled in this section, built homes and established industry.

Families of Early Days

You and I can distinctly remember some of the families of our days, men such as Senator John N. Cordis, Surrogate Walter N. Gill, Mayors James E. Phinney, Walter P. Crane and Morris Block, City Assessor Charles Lahl, Jr., Charity Commissioner J. L. Salzmann, Peter Bolce, Seth Staples and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy. They were all outstanding men. Men who did much to bring credit, fame and industry to Kingston and so on to Ponckhockie. It was my good fortune to be a boy among those men, to live with them, advise with them, do business with them, consult with them and grow up under their care, guidance and training.

In 1931 the people of Ponckhockie gave me 440 votes out of a total of 747 and thus added my name to the list of mayors of our city, four of whom came from Ponckhockie. I was most grateful to you people for the expression of good will to another man from Ponckhockie. You sent me to the city hall to guide your destiny and affairs at a most trying time.

Not Like the Days of Old

It was not like the days when industry boomed here, when the Newark Lime and Cement Company was turning out hundreds of thousands of barrels of cement each year, when the blue stone yard was thriving, when 20 or more boats a year were built and launched from the docks along your water front, when the brick yards were making billions of brick a year and shipping them into the New York market, when the Cornell tugs were busy from April 'til December, when every man in Ponckhockie was working and saving money.

Back to 1932

On January 1, 1932, when I took office it was a different picture, it was a sad picture. The outgoing mayor exceeded his budget by figures that exceeded $100,000, leaving me with a large deficit to pay, if the money could be raised. I found 2,000 men out of work, 300 of whom were from the Fifth Ward. Factories were closing, industry was stopping. Then along comes the New York Central Railroad Company to take over the Ulster & Delaware and to close the shops on the Strand and add a hundred or more men to the rolls of the unemployed, many of them Ponckhockie residents.

Things Accomplished

Nevertheless we immediately went to work both on the financial problem and for the unemployed. We faced the task and before long the Temporary Emergency Relief Committee was functioning, seeking out worthwhile projects at which men and women could be put to work. Work Relief and Home Relief were unknown to all mayors who preceded me. It was a tremendous task to set up a workable institution of men and women to administer work and home relief. But we did it and before long had the situation under control without any labor trouble, riots or other civil commotion. The relief committee was employing as high as 732 men and women and the Board of Public Works was taking care of from 400 to 600.

We came to Ponckhockie and rebuilt those companies which were unknown to all mayors who preceded me. It was a tremendous task to set up a workable institution of men and women to administer work and home relief. But we did it and before long had the situation under control without any labor trouble, riots or other civil commotion. The relief committee was employing as high as 732 men and women and the Board of Public Works was taking care of from 400 to 600.

The Financial Mess

Besides finding work for you men and women to do we had finances to contend with. The deficit of the Board of Public Works account was $111,964.93 and that of the Public Welfare Department the sum of $37,611.77. Certificates and notes of all kinds and amounts were issued from November 18th (after Election Day) on to December 1st.

I finally got the financial mess straightened out by a Supreme Court order, after a trial in which the city was victorious. Such conduct by elected public officials is reprehensible. If the business of the city were continued much longer under those policies, it would soon have endangered the credit of the city. It was a blessing that the people changed administrations in 1931 by their vote. I tell you now "That it is time to change again."

The present administration says the city is in debt $431,010.06 more today than when he assumed office. That he spent almost $1,900,000.00 for relief, that he has issued almost $1,800,000.00 in bonds and notes, leaving the city with not much more borrowing power. He will issue millions more, if you re-elect him. He doesn't say how much he spent for machinery, trucks and tools. Is he afraid to do so? Why don't he parade his machinery up and down Broadway at this time of the year as he has done on two previous occasions at great expense to the city?

That machinery represents thousands of hours of labor that he took away from the laboring class of people and has increased the cost of government to the people by issuing notes to pay for it instead of paying outright for it by a budget appropriation.

New Bookkeeping System

To keep my pledge to the people that I would give them an efficient and business-like administration we set out to put a new bookkeeping system in the city treasurer's office so that henceforth an outgoing mayor could not exceed his budget appropriations, especially more than $200,000, as I faced. The comptroller of the state of New York sent auditors here at our request and at no cost. The bookkeeping system now in use is an outcome of the Carey administration. The credit of the city was then raised by discontinuing poor business methods. I intended to go farther than that. I had a salesman from the National Cash Register Company come here and he prepared plans for a bookkeeping and tax billing machine. We could not go through with it because I could not find sufficient funds to pay the cost. Wasn't that a business-like move?

The Boulevard

In March, 1932, with L. C. Doty,

Ashton Hart, Edward M. Huben, Walter Cater and Mayor Walter Hough of Rosendale I met State Highway Commissioner Arthur Brandt at his office in Albany, urging him to place the Rosendale-Kingston road on the 1932 construction map. He agreed to build the road provided that the city of Kingston build a concrete road of modern type from the railroad tracks into Greenkill avenue, to carry the traffic through the city. We agreed so to do.

More Savings

On March 2, 1932, in a special communication to the Common Council, I stated that the deficiency in the Department of Public Welfare was $11,000.00 and not $4,999.53 as stated by the department in their annual report. This made an additional deficit of $6,000.00 for the budget year. That certain, valuable, official record pertaining to relief given in October and November, 1931, had been burned at the City House. We abolished the $1,000.00 petty cash account of the superintendent. We also found that the Commissioner of Public Welfare was paying himself a salary of $1,000.00 a year, over and above his $2,000.00 salary, out of the Old Age Fund. That was discontinued, saving the city a $1,000.00 a year. Wasn't that keeping our pledge to give a business-like administration?

Traffic Jam

The afternoon traffic jam in front of the high school was ended on May 21, 1932. Up to that time the school buses, and there were many of them, would park along the sidewalk in front of the high school. On our suggestion to Superintendent Van Ingen, the buses were driven to the rear of the high school and there the children entered the buses.

Band Music

During my administration we gave contracts to the Community Band the Citizens Band and the Italian-American Band to play concerts during the summer in our parks. The present administration has discontinued the ultimate effect of driving all organized bands in our city out of existence. He has spent this year, according to his budget figures the sum of $17,718.76 for parks and recreation and not a penny of it went to musicians.

Relief Records

On January 25, 1932, at the request of the State Welfare Department the Home Relief Office was removed from the City House on Flatbush avenue and placed on the third floor in the City Hall. This was done because of the long distance a person seeking relief had to walk. The records show that on January 16, 1932, 1,000 relief cases had been investigated and 1,004 cases were awaiting investigation. On January 21, 1932, 700 families were receiving home relief. On February 2, 1932, it was necessary for me to attend a meeting of the Ulster County Clinton Hotel in reference to fees charged by doctors for calls to relief cases. The society decided to appoint a committee of physicians to draft a uniform schedule of fees to be charged the city for relief case calls. On March 26, 1932, the Work Relief Board had plans under way to put 1,200 men to work.

A crowd of over 300 men and women gathered in the Common Council Chamber at the city hall on January 19, 1932, to rally to the plan of the American Legion to contribute and lend a helping hand in the job of helping the 1,200 of our unemployed earn their daily bread.

It was a national plan of the American Legion to create jobs for the unemployed by assigning committees to make houses, to house, store to store and even factory to factory canvasses, to determine in each specific case the possibilities of placing additional men on the payrolls, and also to obtain sundry jobs for the unemployed. Lucius F. Doty was elected chairman of the committee and the Auxiliary to the Legion joined in the work together with the Federation of Women's Clubs. The movement was backed by the American Federation of Labor and the National Advertisers. The movement was well carried on in Kingston, had a stimulating effect on our unemployment problem. It had the hearty cooperation of all our bankers, business men, professional men and the people generally.

The records show that on March 31, 1932, 2,061 men were registered as being out of work and needing it. I tell you these things in order to show you what we were up against when we assumed office about eight years ago. Let me remind you that it was the Carey administration that abolished the position of collector of unpaid taxes and that it was the same administration that made it possible for you people to pay taxes in two installments.

Mushroom Plant

It was during my administration that Knaust Bros. brought their mushroom industry to Kingston, to this section in Ponckhockie. It is still here and employing many men. Besides employing men they pay a large rental each year to the city for the use of the abandoned lime quarries.

Refuse to Vote for Tools

Would you be surprised to know that the present mayor who has spent thousands of dollars, unnecessarily, for trucks and so forth to keep men out of work went on record against an appropriation of $2,000 for tools on January 9, 1933, so that men could be employed on Work Relief projects.

Heiselman's Supporters

Last night he brought Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin to the corner of Gill and East Union streets to assail me. I will show later in the campaign how it does not pay for the city to be a self insurer, as John claims it is. It is now a matter of record that the folly of the administration's plan to be a self insurer has cost the taxpayers of the city almost $5,000.00 and before they get a receipt in full it will cost $5,000.00 more. Substantial citizens and business men such as Allan L. Harstein, A. D. Pardee, William A. Van Valgenburgh, Gerard L. McEntee, Albert N. Cook, James A. Bettis, Sam N. Mann, Schuyler Schultz, Fred Chidsey, A. Noble Graham and Jacob H. Tremper, Jr., will agree that it is a poor policy for the city to be a self insurer and that the corporation council is entirely unjust in assailing me.

Now as Mayor Heiselman brings these men to the platform to assail me, I believe you are entitled to know who they are and what interest they have in the campaign and I am going to let you know about them.

On October 17, he had Fred Stang on the platform. Fred mentioned, among other things, that the youth of our city were enjoying the wading pools in the parks of the city. Fred did not give me credit for giving the youth of the city those wading pools. Those pools were built in 1932 during the Carey administration. Prior to 1932 the children had no such wading pools to play about in during the hot summer days. Now what does Fred know about municipal affairs? He never held a city position. He is the clerk to the Board of Supervisors and enjoys a lucrative law practice. He runs two goods jobs, but Mayor Heiselman can handle only one.

Last night, as I previously mentioned, Mayor Heiselman trots out John Cashin. John and I are friends of long standing. Why does he bring John out? John is not running for mayor. He must be running for corporation counsel. His interest in this campaign is not that of the people. His interest is in the $5,000.00 in cash he will get out of it, payable monthly over a period of 24 months. It would take the poor laboring man almost eight years to earn that. I will tell you now that John M. Cashin is the most expensive corporation counsel in the history of the city of Kingston. Had he not raised his salary while in office the taxpayers would have saved another $4,000.00 during the past four years and a thousand dollars a year for years to come.

I didn't hear John tell of the blunder that was made when the Board of Education purchased the plot of ground where the stadium was built. He as corporation counsel is also attorney for the Board of Education. The attorney searches the title to property before a purchase is made to insure that the title is good. It is a matter of record that the title to the property is not clear, there is a right of way over it and in order for the Board of Education to have exclusive right and use of the stadium property the right of way must be eliminated. It is going to cost the city money to do so. Whose blunder was this John? How much more of the taxpayers' money will be wasted to clear the title?

Will you people be a party to continuing this expensive administration in office? I do not believe you will. I believe you have decided that "It is time to change again."

Bills for regulation and taxation of itinerant merchants were introduced in 24 state legislatures in 1939. Laws were enacted in five states, California, Iowa, Montana, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Large Crowd at Bazaar Opening

St. Peter's third annual bazaar opened Tuesday evening at the school hall, Adams street, and was attended by a large crowd.

The hall was gaily decorated and the brightly colored booths and handsome articles on display attracted the attention of everyone.

The sisters of St. Peter's School with the aid of the school children have a very attractive booth in the form of a green and white cottage. There are also booths under the supervision of the Children of Mary, Christian Mothers, Sewing Circle and Sacred Heart League.

During the evening a hot roast pork supper was served by the Christian Mothers' Society. Tonight a "surprise supper" will be served and Friday night clam chowder will be on sale.

The bazaar opens at 8 o'clock each evening and will continue throughout the week, closing Saturday night.

Werrenrath Opens Classes

Last Friday Reinald Werrenrath received his pupils in his studio at 30 South Clinton avenue. Instead of on Thursdays as the committee for arrangements had announced previously, Mr. Werrenrath will be teaching in Kingston on Friday of each week. A large group of students, composed of men, women and young folk, including teachers of singing, church singers and beginners, have consumed Mr. Werrenrath's entire day here.

Downes Is Divorced

Reno, Oct. 25 (AP)—Edwin O. Downes, New York music critic, was granted a divorce on grounds of cruelty yesterday from Marion Amanda Davenport Downes. He has been music critic of the New York Times since 1924 and formerly served in the same capacity for the Boston Post. The couple married October 31, 1910, in Manchester, N. H.

Flashes of Life

Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Plastow, N. H.—Fire broke out at the home of George W. Roberts, and firemen, as is usual, came speeding to the scene.

Spectators also rushed to the spot and expressed in loud tones their criticisms of the firefighting methods.

So loud and so biting did the comments become that firemen turned their hose on the spectators. The spectators, in turn, rushed the firemen. Police rushed in to quell the disturbance.

Mr. Roberts' house burned down.

El Reno—Jack Keller, 6, beaming proudly, asked his teacher to promote him from the first to the third grade. Explained Jack:

"I can lick all the kids up through the second grade."

Trinity Lutheran Men's Club Host To Glenford Club

Members of Trinity Lutheran Men's Club were hosts Tuesday evening to the ladies as well as members of the Glenford Men's Club and their wives. The ladies night was held at the assembly rooms of Trinity Lutheran Church and as guest speaker was Capt. Ernest Steuding, of the 156th Field Artillery who is also superintendent of the Board of Public Works. Captain Steuding gave an interesting talk on what the United States is doing toward national defense and told of the equipment which is being devised by the army officials. He also talked on the European situation.

President Harry Grey of the Ulster County Federation was also a guest, as was Secretary Edith Flowers. They spoke on the work of the Federation and outlined the work which is being done in the county by the Federation of Men's Clubs.

During the evening there was community singing and music by the Glenford Club. Refreshments were served and darts was played.

C. E. Flying Squadron At St. Remy Reformed

The flying squadron of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union made its second appearance of the new year at St. Remy Reformed Church Tuesday.

The flying squadron was composed of three vice presidents, Natalie Phillips of Bloomington, Lester Tubby of Kingston, Roberta Hotelling of Port Ewen. Publicity Chairman Burton Streeter completed the squadron. The squadron attended the worship service of the St. Remy C. E. and after the meeting the officers were called upon by the St. Remy C. E. president, Miss Natalie Phillips of Bloomington, who recently attended the leaders' conference in Oneonta, told about the conference. Later all the officers took part in a discussion.

The next County Union C. E. meeting will be held at Bloomington on Sunday night, September 12, where a song service will be held.

Looking Forward to Home Bureau Tour on Friday

Members of the Ulster County Home Bureau are looking forward to the demonstration tour to be held on Friday, October 27, with a stop for picnic luncheon at the Rochester Reformed Church, where the ladies will be prepared to furnish hot coffee and dessert.

The tour will be for inspection of modernized kitchens at a number of homes throughout the county. A number of living rooms which have been improved through Home Bureau cooperation, also will be open for inspection. The Freeman will show pictures of what has been done in some of the kitchens to improve them and bring them up to date.

Parties will leave from Stone Ridge and from Wall street, Kingston, at 9:30 Friday morning, for the trip. Those interested should communicate with Miss Parsons at the Home Bureau.

Forest Glen Home Bureau Unit Given Special Treat

Miss Caroline Morton, assistant director of the College of Home Economics at Ithaca, addressed the members of the Forest Glen unit of the Home Bureau this afternoon. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Raymond DuBois and following a luncheon Miss Morton gave an interesting account of her trip around the world a year ago, illustrating her story with a fine collection of pictures.

The talk and showing of pictures was a special treat given to the Forest Glen unit as an award for having reported a hundred per cent renewal of membership.

Enlistments in Local Units of National Guard

Only a few days remain for young men interested in enlisting in the local units of the National Guard at the State Armory, Main or avenue. The increase of personnel, authorized by an executive order of the President, must be completed by October 31.

Young men interested in radio, signal communication, semaphore, pistol shooting, survey and administration are urged to see Capt. Combs of Headquarters Battery Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Men desiring to study gunnery, using the 75mm field pieces, are invited to attend the drill of Battery A, Capt. Steuding commanding, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health:

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Brennan of Route 2, Saugerties, a son, Thomas Richard, Jr., in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Ellsworth of Route 1, Kingston, a son, David Augustus, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Flynn, of 42 Adams street, a son, James Francis, Jr., in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Diers of Chapel street, a son, Richard.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Erik Tisdall of 74 Elmendorf street, a son, David Cameron, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ostoyic of Malden, a son, Leo Patrick, in Kingston Hospital.

Masquerade Party

Thursday evening, November 2, a masquerade party and dance will be held at the parish house of St. John's Church, Albany avenue. Refreshments will be served.

Farmers Postpone Action on Strike

"there was little of that bitterness usually seen at such meetings and although there were a number of discussions the meeting was generally harmonious."

E. F. Messinger, Ira Deyo, Fred Simpson and Charles Freedman, members of a special committee for the unionized group, were instrumental in obtaining the differential for the Rondout Valley group. The Dairyman's League group was also represented at the hearing by John Schoonmaker.

Checks Received
Checks for September milk were reported received by some of the county farmers today and the price was reported to be $2.08 1/2 a hundred, as was expected.

Earlier reports that the price would be 6 1/2 cents less than the price of $2.15 a hundred, which the unionized group contends was promised them following a meeting to settle last August's strike, led to the announcement by Archie Wright, chairman of the union, that the producers would remonstrate.

Today, according to The Associated Press, the up-state Dairy Farmers' Union deadline for action against dealers who fail to pay $2.15 per hundred-weight for September milk, had arrived, and Wright was quoted as having pledged a "quiet, orderly campaign," in the event of a milk boycott.

The leader of the unionized group, was reported to have given assurance that New York city would receive "plenty of milk" if another boycott is ordered.

"If we decide to divert milk," he explained, "it will be a quiet, orderly campaign without sensationalism."

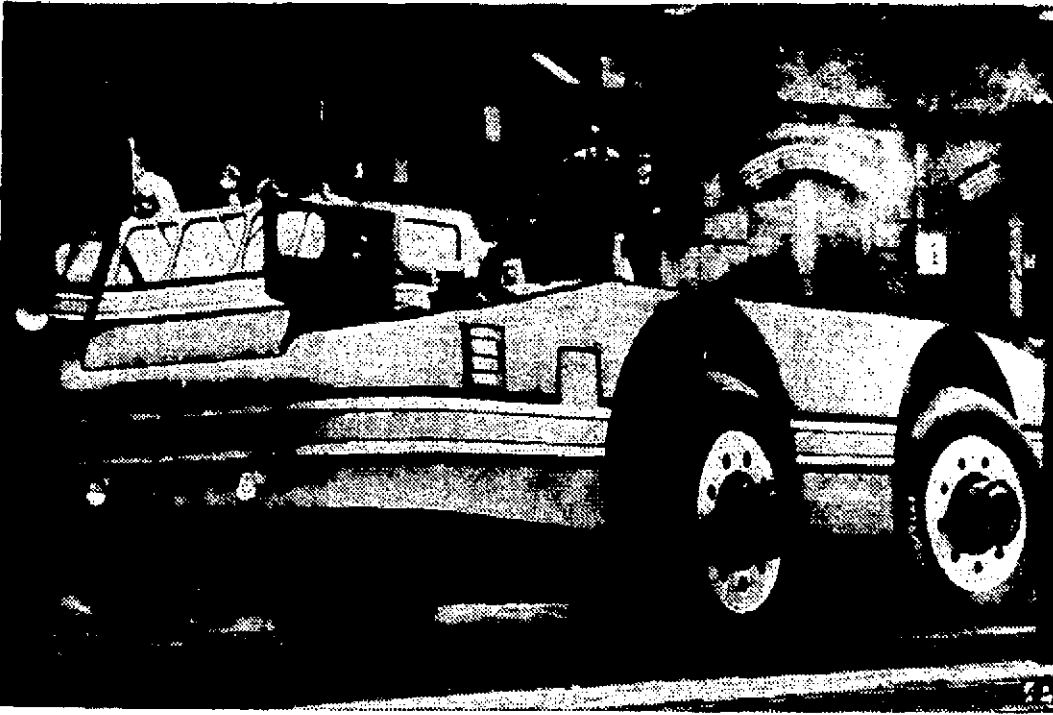

Last Monday, according to the Associated Press, State Agriculture Commissioner Holton V. Noyes cautioned against withholding of milk and said if $366,000 in back payments due the producers' settlement fund, had been paid in September, the return would have exceeded $2.15.

This back payment fund, in the opinion of local producers, however, is something which appears to exist in name only under terms of the federal marketing order.

It is a fund supposed to have been set up through the co-operation of dealers and in compliance with terms of the federal order, but as one farmer explains it, some of the dealers failed to comply with the order, and payments if they ever are made, may not come until after decision on a number of litigations now reported under way.

Steel mill operations in Canada were accelerated in August when 122,019 tons of steel ingots and castings were produced compared with 82,871 tons in August, 1938.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The Democratic candidate for mayor of the city of Kingston in a political speech last week was generous in his praise of the administration of the government of Ulster county by the Republican organization. The Democratic aspirant for Kingston's highest office called attention to the operation of the county government for many years on a "pay-as-you-go" policy, with the county today free of debt. In the light of politics, this admission of the opposition's success with its right for continued support by all voters, regardless of party affiliation, is rather unusual. Consequently it would seem needless for anyone to say more.

Voters of Ulster county realize that it is due entirely to the fact that the Board of Supervisors has been under Republican control for over a quarter of a century that today the county is one of the few counties in the entire United States that stands debt-free.

Honest and efficient management of county affairs has made this record possible.

When one of the Democratic leaders of Ulster county publicly acknowledges that fact the voters will make no mistake in electing Republicans to the board so that this policy may be continued in force.

TRICKS WITH COFFEE

Industrial chemistry may solve Brazil's coffee problem by converting some of it into plastics of various uses. Chemical wizardry, which not only finds new applications for surplus products but creates substitutes for scarce ones, has been doing things with coffee. It seems to be a field in which the possible developments have barely been suggested.

In the meanwhile, Brazil has a more immediate method of getting rid of those extra coffee beans. She has worked out a plan whereby exporters may lose their coffee and have it, too. The government puts up surplus coffee as payment in kind for coffee cargoes lost because of war activities. This has a double usefulness. It keeps down war-risk insurance for such cargoes and reduces the surplus.

Still, it may be doubted whether even Brazil's coffee growers and exporters would consider the blowing up of coffee cargoes by belligerents as desirable.

BETTER TIMES

"Happy times are here again," at least as regards business improvement. Although not back to normal yet in many respects, there is so much improvement in employment and production that, in comparison with the last few years, it looks and feels like prosperity. It actually is prosperity for many people, and their good fortune spreads through the economic system, improving the lot of those who have not yet caught up.

How long will it last? Nobody is wise enough to know that. Business writers and economists have been betrayed so often by confident predictions that they now speak of this recovery in terms of months rather than years. Yet it might last for years, becoming general, wiping out a large part of the lagging and nagging unemployment, enabling families and businesses and government to balance their budgets and start reducing old debts.

It depends a good deal on the European war, over which we have little or no control. It probably depends more, though, on our own good sense, intelligence and teamwork.

NEW AMERICAN TOY MARKETS

More American-made toys are beginning to appear in stores in this country since partial boycotts of German and Japanese toys, plus other trade difficulties, have restricted imports from those countries. Children of other lands, however, have very few American-made toys as yet.

Germany still holds 40 per cent of the world's toy business and Japan has 36. The United States at present has only 7 per cent of it. The rest of the world divides up the remaining 17 per cent.

It may be that American toys have been too expensive for widespread sale abroad. On the whole, they are of better quality than foreign toys. Certainly the cheap German and Japanese stuff most familiar to us is of flimsy material and construction. American toy manufacturers have a great opportunity to expand their world business if they can overcome some of the obstacles to selling abroad met by all exporters these days.

CARS AHEAD OF TUBS

It is reported that many American families have automobiles who do not have bathtubs. This may mean that auto salesmen are better business-getters than are plumbing salesmen. It probably does not mean that Americans prefer riding to bathing.

At any rate, we hope the statisticians and sociologists will handle the information tactfully. Most people would rather have the amount of plumbing increased than the number of cars reduced. That may be the way it will work out naturally, for it has been the American experience that all business is better when the automobile business is good.

REMOVAL OF GALL BLADDER

I have spoken before of the patient who underwent operation for ulcer of the stomach expecting that all his symptoms would disappear, never to return. He was greatly disappointed when his physician told him that if he didn't stop worrying, eating rapidly, and not getting enough rest, he would likely "grow" another ulcer. Operation for ulcer of the stomach is not now so common since it has been found that the patient's "personality" is usually the underlying cause.

What about operation for removal of gall stones and inflammation of the gall bladder; will operation prevent return of symptoms?

Drs. E. L. Eliason and J. P. North, Philadelphia, in Annals of Surgery report their follow-up study of 261 cases from one to four years after operation. They found that only 6 per cent (sixteen cases) were not relieved of the symptoms for which they underwent operation. In four other cases the relief was delayed and in others, the symptoms complained of were not due to gall bladder disturbance.

Now 6 per cent is not a large percentage to fail to get relief after removal of their gall bladders but Drs. Eliason and North investigated these cases and found that in half of them (8) there was no gross or outstanding evidence of gall bladder disease at time of operation, but in the other half (8), the surgeon found a diseased gall bladder with stones of the gall bladder.

Why did these eight cases not obtain relief despite the removal of the gall stones?

The explanation is that sometimes conditions other than gall stones can give similar symptoms "since many gall stones are 'silent' ones."

The lesson here then is that despite the mistakes physicians may make and the inability of a patient to properly describe his symptoms, practically 19 of every 20 cases undergoing this operation obtained relief from their symptoms.

For those then that are suffering with gall bladder symptoms, especially those with the terrible attacks of gall stone colic, the fact that operation gives relief to such a large percentage should not only allay their fears of operation but should give them great hope of obtaining immediate relief and keeping free from symptoms thereafter.

Antarctic Explorers Have SOME Luxuries: Talkies, Bus Rides, And Chinese Checkers

MEN AT WORK in polar regions use sleds dogs for hauling

By FRANK CAREY
AP Feature Service

Boston—A federal housing project is being planned for the Antarctic circle—with a bit of swank in the furnishings—but no one is going to pay any rent.

The buildings are to be the living quarters of the men selected for the government's exploratory, and possibly land-claiming, expedition to Antarctica. The expedition sets sail around November 1 under the leadership of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

The "project" will comprise two large structures, 20 by 60 feet. They will be sunk or "holed in" below the ice level, and will have double floors with facilities for circulation of warm air between them. This feature was added because on previous expeditions the men complained of cold feet.

The living space in the buildings will be mainly divided into cubicles for crew quarters—two men to a cubicle—and each section will be curtained like a train berth. Each camp will have several smaller buildings, including the "blubber shops," where seals are prepared. Part of the crew's work will be to hunt seals and pile them like cord wood in stacks for later consumption by the trail dogs.

The explorers will live on a rigid shipboard schedule—up in the wee small hours and lights out 10 minutes after they hit the hay. Each morning, commanders will read the orders of the day.

They'll Have Talkies
 During the long Antarctic winter night the men will leave and enter their sunken dwelling through a topside hatchway, like gophers in a burrow. In the summer they will spend most of their time on the trail.

Life won't be so hard below the ice. Several score sound films have been assembled and movies will be shown twice a week. There will be all kinds of diversions, books, music, carving ship models and a real innovation in south polar night life—Chinese checkers.

The Bad Part
 Despite all the comforts, however, the men always will live in danger of suddenly floating away into the Polar sea as the great Ross ice disintegrates.

Another peril is the possibility that ice will imprison the transport ships. In that event the men would have to make their way in open boats over 1,000 miles of the most dangerous sea in the world.

When the men work, they work like dogs—even pulling heavy sledges with the dogs—for as much as 12 hours at a stretch. But sometimes they ski under a sun so bright they have to guard against sunburn. On other days the skin will peel from their fingers as they attempt to fix ice cold metal tractors.

A Snow Bus
 One of the most intriguing jobs at the pole should be work in the new snow cruiser designed by Dr. Thomas C. Souders. Its inventor says the huge bus has a cruising range of 5,000 miles and an average speed of 20 miles an hour. It runs on ten-foot-diameter wheels and the largest tires in the world, has two Diesel engines and retracting devices in case it gets stuck.

Streamlined and carrying an airplane on its roof, the bus will carry four men and provisions for a year. If it breaks down in the wilderness the men can get away in the plane or radio for help from their fully-equipped turret room. The expedition will have at least two navy ski-equipped planes, two stripped down army tanks, tractors and sledges. All will work together, but in the last analysis the dogs will be the "infantry" of the expedition.

"It will be no picnic down there on the ice," one of the party says. "And trail work will be a particular hardship."

"But the tough going always is offset by the thrill of new lands always over the horizon."

MEN AT PLAY will have Chinese checkers as well as playing cards.

Republican Candidates

CHESTER A. BALTZ, JR.

In the selection of Chester A. Baltz, Jr., as candidate for supervisor of the Tenth ward, the Republican Party places a young man on the ticket who will render intelligent, faithful and energetic service to the constituents of the ward and to the entire county.

Mr. Baltz, who is 25 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Baltz of 70 Clinton avenue. He has always lived in the Tenth ward, where he is highly esteemed by all his neighbors. After graduating from Kingston High School in 1931, Mr. Baltz went to St. Lawrence University and graduated from that university in 1935. Since completing his schooling, he has been associated with his father in business under the firm name of C. A. Baltz and Sons, pajama manufacturers, of 49 Greenkill avenue.

Business experience is a quality greatly to be desired in a member of the Board of Supervisors. Mr. Baltz is interested in his ward and in the welfare of the city and county and he can be depended upon to do a worthwhile job. This is his first venture in politics. A great amount of his time and energy have been devoted to the work of the local Y. M. C. A., where he is a member of the Physical Department Committee and the Membership Committee.

The best service the Tenth ward can render to itself, to the city and the county is the election of this young man.

JOHN F. WADLIN

John F. Wadlin, well known attorney and counselor at law of Highland, is a candidate to succeed himself as supervisor from the town of Lloyd.

Mr. Wadlin is a graduate of St. Lawrence University, holding a degree of LL. B. He was admitted to the bar in 1925. Since completion of his schooling he has served as a member of the Board of Education of the Central Rural School District at Highland from 1928 to 1933. He has served as a member of the Board of Supervisors for the past four years. The esteem in which he is held by his fellow members of the Board of Supervisors is shown by the fact that he has been chosen majority leader.

The Republican candidate is also a past master of Adonai Lodge, No. 715, F. & A. M., and has served the Greene-Ulster Masonic District as district deputy grand master. He is also treasurer of the Highland M. E. Church.

Mr. Wadlin is married and has two children and is a practicing attorney with offices at Highland. Supervisor Wadlin has made a record of successful achievement for his town during his years of service which is appreciated by the voters of the town. He can be depended on to again fill the office of supervisor with entire satisfaction to his constituents.

Today in Washington

Seizure of the American Ship, "City of Flint" Has Been Given An Exaggerated Emphasis

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 25.—Seizure of the "City of Flint," an American ship bound for a belligerent port, has been given an exaggerated emphasis.

Before the present war is many months old, news items about the seizure of American ships will be as frequent as they were in the World War, when relatively little attention was paid to them, unless accompanied by loss of life, which, of course, didn't occur in this instance.

Perhaps the reason for the unusual amount of publicity given this kind of news to the generations born since the World War, but here in Washington the episode served an odd purpose. Administration supporters said it wouldn't have happened if the proposed neutrality law revision had been passed, whereas supporters of the embargo tended to minimize the importance of the incident.

Actually, the proposed neutrality law may cut down the possible number of incidents, but they can by no means be eliminated. For it is a custom of war for the navy of one belligerent or other to intercept vessels bound from one neutral port to another neutral port. The proposed law merely forbids American ships from entering belligerent ports.

The suggested amendment of Senator Taft of Ohio, which was defeated and which would prohibit American ships from approaching the shores of neutral countries near the belligerent areas, might logically have had the effect of still further avoidance of incidents like the seizure of the Flint. But the premise on which these proposed restrictions is based is hardly tenable. For America's ships were seized and cargoes diverted hundreds of times in the World War without much more than a drastically worded protest being sent to the offending government.

It cannot be assumed that America would get into war with any European power because of the seizure of cargoes. What provoked the last war with Germany was not the destruction of American property, but the sinking of American vessels without warning and the consequent loss of American lives.

The reason why a distinction is drawn between seizure of ships and destruction of American lives is that property can be restored or replaced. The owners have the right to sue and present claims for damages. International law abounds in cases growing out of seizures and the payment of heavy indemnities after the war is over. If the "City of Flint" was illegally seized under international law, the German government will some day pay damages. But it is not a basis for war or strained relations, any more than is the inspection of cargoes going on now by the British, who regularly confiscate alleged contraband.

When the proposed neutrality bill is passed, American ships will not be traveling directly to any belligerent ports in Europe, but to neutral ports and to British and French colonies in the South Atlantic and the Pacific. German raiders will be few and far between, but occasionally one of them will attack such shipping and it may well be that some American ship will be sunk with the loss of American lives.

The difficulty, on the other hand, of establishing responsibility for the occasional act of a German raider and the tendency of the American public to regard all travel and shipping as engaged in at the risk of travellers and ship owners will tend to make remote any complications comparable to that which led the United States into war in 1917.

During a war, neutral countries have for centuries expected to have their trade intercepted, and arguments about incidents and responsibility have been numerous, but the basic principle is that belligerents have a right to seize any ship or cargo, or both, which is carrying materials or supplies of possible use to the enemy. Contraband lists proclaimed by belligerents are never accepted in entirety by neutrals, and the question of what is or is not contraband and whether a seizure was or was not justified is usually settled many years after the hostilities are over by claims commissions or arbitration tribunals.

The fact that the "City of Flint" was taken to a Russian port, presumably neutral, introduces a legal complication which may cause the Russians to release the vessel rather than appear before the world in the light of a belligerent. But outside of these technical considerations, the public may well accustom itself to the fact that American shipping bound for Europe is bound to be intercepted to a greater or lesser extent, dependent upon the effectiveness of the blockades established respectively by either the German or the allied navies. ## Stamps In The News

Japan's newest postage stamp, the 10 yen, shows one of the country's most famous designs, a spray of plum blossoms copied from the design on an ancient toilet box kept in the Imperial Household Museum in Tokyo. The design is in white and light purple on a background of dark lavender. The plum blossom was considered appropriate for a stamp because in Japan this flower symbolizes communications.

'Tin Can Island'
 One of the most isolated permanent post offices in the world is on the small volcanic rock, Niuafoou, in the South Pacific. The rock-bound island is in the British Tonga group near such other picturesque places as the Fiji Islands and Pago-Pago.

Since the island has no harbor and is thus shunned by ship captains, mail must be thrown into the water in tin cans and then conveyed to visiting ships by native swimmers or canoe.

Though the postage to the United States is 25 cents and letters are two or three months in arriving, the post office does a thriving business. In the past 20 years, 500,000 covers have been mailed. Few big stamp collections lack a Niuafoou cover.

Postmaster for the island is Walter Quensell, who has become known to philatelists as the "Tin Can Island Mailman."

"The Rock is 16 miles around and 5 miles in diameter," says Quensell. "It is volcanic and has 28 dead craters. All captains hate the Rock."

"In my 20 years here, there has not been one mail lost for good. Some have been fished up after a day or two under the water, and one mail was 18 days under water. Sure, it was wet, but we got it just the same."

'Danzig Ist Deutsch'
 Nazi authorities celebrated their grabbing of Danzig at the outbreak of war in September by issuing two special postage stamps.

Danzig's medieval church of St. Mary is shown on the six-pennings stamp; and the ancient crane gate in the city's harbor on the 12-pf value.

Each of the two stamps bears the inscription on top, "Danzig ist Deutsch" (Danzig is German). The stamps may prove to be philatelic witnesses to a momentous turning point in modern European history.

The stamp collectors of the Hudson valley will hold their Fourth Hudson Valley Stamp Exhibition at the Hotel Campbell in Poughkeepsie on November 17. The exhibition is being sponsored by the Dutchess Philatelic Society, one of the clubs of the Hudson valley regional division of the National Federation of Stamp Clubs.

Collectors from all parts of the Hudson valley will enter exhibits and compete for the four cups to be presented as awards, three ribbons in each class and many other prizes. In the junior section of the show, a cup will be awarded to the exhibitor who brings together with ribbons and other prizes. The first and third Hudson valley stamp exhibitions were held by the same club and at the same place in 1935 and 1937, and was attended by collectors from six states and the District of Columbia, with a total attendance in excess of 2,000.

Lutheran Hour Resumes Sunday

WALTER A. MAIER, PH. D.

St. Louis (Special)—The Lutheran Hour, featuring the sermons of the noted theologian, Dr. Walter A. Maier of Concordia Seminary, will be resumed Sunday, October 29, over a coast-to-coast network of 81 stations.

Local sponsor of the Lutheran hour is Immanuel Evangelical Church, Livingston street.

An advocate of Christian life founded on the Scriptures, Dr. Maier has gained wide recognition for his implacable opposition to atheism, communism and other anti-religious doctrines. The Lutheran Hour, whose declared purpose is to "Bring Christ to the Nation," is credited with the widest distribution of the cross in the history of religious evangelism; half a million miniature gold crosses having been mailed to listeners. Devotional and other religious literature and symbols also have been widely distributed.

As a result of his broadcasting activities since 1931, Dr. Maier has become the spiritual confidant of thousands of persons lacking church connections.

Graduate of Boston University, Concordia Seminary and Harvard, Dr. Maier is a full-time professor at the seminary. His Lutheran Hour activities are carried on in his leisure hours with the assistance of a large staff of volunteer workers who like Dr. Maier himself are compensated only by the satisfaction gained from participation in one of the great evangelistic enterprises of all time.

Noted Choral Singing

Resumption of the broadcasts will also mark the return of two favorite spiritual choral groups—the Lutheran Hour Chorus and the St. Louis A Cappella Choir. The Lutheran Hour Chorus is composed of 30 voices selected from the nationally-known Concordia Seminary Students' Chorus, and the choir is a mixed chorus of 55 voices whose annual concerts have been heard in many cities. Both groups are trained and directed by the distinguished choral master, William B. Heyne.

The program will be broadcast twice each Sunday for 26 weeks—one group of stations being on the air from 1:30 to 2 p. m., New York time, a second group from 4:30 to 5 p. m., New York time.

Coroner's Jury Says Man Killed Wife, Companion

Reno, Nev., Oct. 25 (AP)—A coroner's jury held today that a middle-aged New Yorker, Nils Albin Almgren Webster, shot and killed his estranged wife who had come here for a divorce, and her traveling companion, and then took his own life.

Webster, who testimony showed had followed his wife, Lillian, to Reno in an effort to effect a reconciliation, shot her and Louise Schmeltz, her traveling companion, as they sat in a parked car near Pyramid Lake, and then sent a fatal bullet through his head, the coroner's jury decided.

Principal witness was H. H. Forrester of Reno, who drove the car. He said Webster had asked him to leave them alone for a while, and that as he strolled up the road he heard shots and returned to find the two women dead and Webster dying.

Mrs. Webster's attorney, Albert D. Ayres, said Webster was a retired Swedish sea captain who had been employed as a gardener by Mrs. Webster and her first husband. He said that even after their marriage, Webster had continued to live in a shed in the back yard of his wife's Brooklyn home.

Coroner Francis J. Cunningham conducted the inquest, at which six witnesses testified.

Pittsburgh Worker Killed In Fall at FDR's Estate

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Arthur O'Connor, 50, Pittsburgh (Pa.) steel worker, died last night of injuries received in the afternoon in a fall from the new Roosevelt Library and Archives building on the President's Hyde Park estate.

Dr. Howard P. Carpenter, Dutchess County Medical Examiner, said O'Connor was working atop the structure when struck by a girder and knocked 20 feet to the ground. The victim was employed by John McShain, Inc., Pittsburgh.

State troopers called to investigate a "bomb" in a tree near Van Etten discovered a parachute holding a small metal box—a radio meteorograph released in Baltimore. The reward for its discovery and return to the weather bureau will go to Earl Bailey and Charles Hollenbeck, Van Etten.

—The Navy Keeps Up Steam—

By The AP Feature Service

Washington—Navy day, October 27, finds Uncle Sam's battle fleet at a new peak in power—and in the process of being still further strengthened. With the country facing a "limited national emergency" due to the war, a construction program of 87 ships, costing a billion dollars is being pushed to bulwark the "first line of defense." That will give us 441 warships, as compared with 354 now, and 240 at the end of the World War. The pictograph shows the comparison in tonnage.

Sounds of Gunfire
Zandvoort, the Netherlands, Oct. 25 (AP)—Many persons in this west coast resort town reported hearing sounds of heavy gunfire between 11 and 11:30 a. m. (5 and 5:30 a. m. EST) today, seemingly coming from the North Sea. Nothing could be seen, however, and there were later indications the firing might be coming from Netherlands coastal batteries shooting at belligerent planes over Holland territory.

The Creeping Man

by Frances Shelley Woods

YESTERDAY, Smith tells Michael that because he needs money he agreed to submit to an experiment by Murchison. Now he does in fear that Murchison will ask him to keep his bargain. Michael's father the District Attorney, comes to dinner.

Chapter 16

Letter From Chicago

"I WILL forgive you for keeping this mystery from me," Tuck solemnly told Michael's father, "on condition that you use your keen and agile brain in solving my little private mystery. Michael can't. He's too dumb. I can't. It has a mechanical bent that is quite beyond my poor feminine mind. Bunny can't. I asked her. So it's up to you."

"Certainly," John Forrester agreed. "And what is it then, my dear?"

"It's my necklace," Tuck said. "Where is it? It's gone."

"Gone?"

"Gone. Disappeared. Michael says the insides of the pipes are smooth. And even - can see that if you drop a small and slippery thing down the inside of a large pipe it would have a tendency to land at the bottom. But it didn't."

Her father-in-law surveyed her from beneath bushy brows. "You are not talking to Michael," he reminded her, "whose mind works in a scatter-brained fashion. I am a bit slow and ponderous, perhaps, but I feel that I could do with a wee little more detail."

Tuck explained.

"It's not in the pipe? In the basement?"

"No."

"Not yet in the furnace?"

"No."

"Well, then," he said, and settled comfortably back in his chair, "it must be somewhere in between."

"Very simple indeed," said Michael.

Tuck sighed. "I suppose it's gone forever," she said. "I can't quite see us pulling the house to pieces for a string of corals. It will break my heart to lose it." She looked sideways at her father-in-law. "I thought perhaps it had found out where the diamonds were hidden and gone to keep them company," she said.

"Humpf. Diamonds?"

"Diamonds," she repeated firmly. "You may all laugh if you wish, but I am more and more firmly convinced that the diamonds - Professor Murchison's diamonds, are hidden somewhere in this house, and that someone knows it and is looking for them. Higgins, probably. Although, even though he and his five thousand dollars sound very suspicious, I don't think he has sense enough to hang pots and pans on the doors. It's too bright an idea for Higgins. Somebody else, Father Forrester."

"Mrs. Murchison," Bunny murmured. Tuck seized upon the idea instantly.

"Mrs. Murchison sounds reasonable," she said. "I wouldn't believe anything she said anyway. I'm sure she's a double-crosser or whatever you call people like that. And I think she read The Bartered Bride herself. It shows the kind of a mind she's got."

"If we were sure it was murder," Tuck went on after a reflective silence, "if we were positive he was murdered, it would be simple."

"Very," Bunny agreed dryly. "We'd just stand the whole company in a row and say Eerie Meenie. Any of those people there at Deane's might be guilty. Any of them."

"Oh, Bunny, not Mrs. Deane. Not Mrs. Deane, Bunny."

"Just A Mistake"

"No. Not Mrs. Deane. Unless she did it with an electric toaster or a sewing machine. From the looks of her she has one or the other in her hand all the time."

"I bet he's the kind of husband that simply makes a dreadful fuss about a button being off."

Michael looked at Tuck. She put her chin in the air and averted her face. "You seem to be maligning me," he said bitterly. "I said nothing about my blue shirt. Nothing."

"I wasn't even thinking of you, Michael Forrester. I was thinking about Mr. Deane and those awful squinty eyes that you can't see, and the sarcastic things he says to you when you play the wrong card. And didn't you see that he didn't even have the same salad that we did? She had to fix something very special for him."

"We had lobster, and he had fruit," Bunny contributed.

Michael groaned. "Just because a poor man wears glasses and has a weak stomach. . . I tremble to think of you two being on the police force. I suppose you'd hang all the cross-eyed men just because."

"Well, of course," said Tuck with one of her lightning changes. "We aren't sure. Maybe none of them are. Maybe it's somebody else."

"And maybe it isn't anybody at all," Michael added.

"Michael, such nonsense. What about the diamonds?"

Arctic People Use Cathedral

Worship in Small Edifice Constructed by Native Labor at Akilvik.

AKILVIK, NORTH WEST TERRITORY.—Far beyond the Arctic circle, on the barren shores of the Arctic sea, stands the most northerly cathedral in the British empire, recently dedicated by the Most Reverend D. T. Owen, primate of all Canada.

Situated at the mouth of the vast Mackenzie river, waterway to the north, the little cathedral is in some ways reminiscent of the days when such towering piles as Cologne, Strasbourg and other famed cathedrals were built.

For Akilvik cathedral, perhaps no monumental edifice such as the cathedrals of the Old World, was in truth built with love by the hands of those who worship in it, Eskimos and Indians. With a white carpenter supervising, all work was done by the natives, who crowd into it each Sunday for the three services.

Furs Their Only Wealth.

At the dedication the natives brought with them the only wealth they know—furs. As they trooped into the cathedral, clad in tribal regalia, the head of each native family came forward and placed on a pile near the door a fresh muskrat skin as an offering.

The pile of skins, symbolic of the faith of the natives, was blessed by the Rt. Rev. A. L. Fleming, Anglican bishop of the Arctic. Two natives, Fred Lester, an Eskimo, and Jim Edwards, an Indian, also participated in the services. Both are studying for the ministry and are lay readers.

Services at the cathedral are held in three languages—English, the Inuktitut tongue of the Loucheux Indians and Eskimo. Each Sunday for miles around the flat, barren country surrounding the cathedral is heard the somber tolling of the quarter-ton bell in the tower. A strange sound to be heard in the silent northland, it brings in the Sabbath and the passing of time to a land that only a short time ago knew neither God nor the meaning of the word time.

To the Eskimos and the Indians it is something new. To the fur-trading Royal Canadian Mounted police on duty in the post, to the white doctors, trappers, traders, and other emissaries of empire it brings a touch of home, perhaps a little French-Canadian village or a small town on the vast prairies. Or to some, perhaps, the sound of a little church bell tolling in a little far-away English country village.

Native Children in Choir. The cathedral choir is faithful in service, attending practice as well as the three repeated Sunday services. Composed entirely of native children, it is directed by a few white teachers.

Hanging inside is a large painting delivered at the dedication services by Miss Violet Teague of Melbourne, Australia. It depicts in terms of the savage northland the birth of the Christ-child and the presentation of gifts by the Three Wise Men. Bundled in furs, the Mother and Child are shown receiving the gifts of pelts from the wise men, the "Epiphany of the Snows." Two reindeer stand in the background, holding a pair of Eskimo dogs in leash. Kipling wrote 45 years ago that "There's never a law of God nor man runs north of '53." Akilvik cathedral has changed this. The scarlet clad mounted police have long since brought the law of the British empire to Akilvik. Now the law of God is there.

Foreign Paintings Kept In United States by War

NEW YORK.—Because of the international situation foreign museums which have loaned paintings to the Masterpieces of Art exhibition at the World's fair have asked exhibit directors to keep the paintings until further instructions are sent.

Cabled requests to that effect have been received from directors of the Louvre, the National Gallery of London and the Rijksmuseum of Amsterdam.

Pictures in the art exhibit from these three museums represent $2,500,000 worth of art.

Perry T. Rathbone, director of the exhibit, has informed other lenders that no shipments will be made either now or at the close of the fair, without specific directions. "We have no objections to retaining custody of the foreign pictures as long as the owners may wish," he said.

Historical Tidbits Are Found in Records Survey

BOSTON.—Factual tidbits uncovered by research workers for the "dental historical records survey of the WPA:

Galloping a horse on the streets of Boston 277 years ago was unlawful, punishable by a fine of three shillings, fourpence. It was felt that "violent riding" would endanger the lives of children.

A license to practice medicine, issued by Ferdinand and Isabella to Diego Vaeza in Loca, Spain, in 1517, is one of the prized possessions in the private collection of Dr. M. Friedman, Boston attorney.

Batavia police marked as "closed" recently the case of "Pete," recaptured after five days of suspected prowling. "Pete" is the pet raccoon owned by Albert Coupland. Too old to classify as a "finger prints" found in the dust on an inspected car, but Coupland, on inspecting them, said "that was Pete, all right."

Christmas Seal Committee Meets

Cashin Says Carey Gave Highest Tax

Debt Equalization Bonds mentioned by the Democratic candidate for mayor were actually refunding bonds, because the debt which they covered was in existence prior to the issuance of these Debt Equalization Bonds. Yet the Democratic candidate for mayor would have you believe that the Heiselman administration increased the bonded debt of the city of Kingston by the issuance of these Debt Equalization Bonds. It seems to me that that is either one of two things, a mistaken statement of fact on the part of the Democratic candidate for mayor, or a wanton ignorance of the very foundation of municipal finance. In any event, and whichever way you want to look at it, it was not new borrowing.

Now let us analyze his statement a little further in reference to the bonds issued by the Heiselman Administration. He tells you that a total of $1,564,379.91 in bonds were issued by our administration, and don't forget that included in that figure, and which should not have been, is a total of $220,000 of Debt Equalization Bonds, about which I told you previously in this speech. What he did not tell you, and what is a matter of record is that during the same period of time, the Heiselman administration paid off in bonds and certificates during its tenure in office the sum of $1,114,843.90, the majority of which was contracted by administrations previous to the Heiselman administration. He did not tell you that included in this figure of $1,114,843.90 was $359,983.00 in bonds and notes which were issued by the Carey administration during its tenure in office in the years 1932 and 1933. He also did not tell you that the Heiselman administration paid off obligations to the extent of more than one quarter of a million dollars represented by bonds issued by the Heiselman administration, and a similar amount issued by the Dempsey administration.

To sum it all up, what we have done is pay off obligations of prior administrations, including the administration of the Democratic candidate for mayor, and if it were not for that fact we would not have had to issue Debt Equalization Bonds or bonds in an amount such as we did to take care of home and work relief. Also included in the figure used by the Democratic candidate for mayor, which made up the total of $1,564,379.91 is the sum of $245,000 in school bonds issued by the Heiselman administration to build the new Myron J. Michael School and the new Vocational Training School. He neglected to tell you that during the Heiselman administration $78,500 of school bonds was paid off by it, $50,000 of that amount being bonds issued for the new schools, as heretofore stated, and $28,500 being bonds issued for school purposes by previous administrations. It is well that you consider these facts, and ask yourself the question, "Why were not all the facts placed before the people by the Democratic candidate?"

fore the people by the Democratic candidate?

Carey's Financial Record

The Democratic candidate referred to that "honored and respected diplomat, Philip Elting," and asked about a pay-as-you-go policy. In effect, he says Heiselman's administration is bad as to pay-as-you-go, but he says Elting is all right. He waives the olive branch at Elting in the hope that possibly he may get a few struggling votes thereby, and maybe incur the profound gratitude of "Uncle Philip." I leave with you what he had in mind. Now let us see about the pay-as-you-go policy. The Democratic candidate must have become a convert to the pay-as-you-go policy since he became the Democratic candidate for mayor, because again we go to the record and what does it disclose? That during the Carey administration in 1932 and 1933 there were issued notes, certificates and bonds upon which he borrowed the sum of $740,744.79. Does that sound like pay-as-you-go? Is he sincere when he talks about pay-as-you-go, or is that the thought of his picked out of the hat for the purpose of securing votes in this campaign? You answer that question.

The Heiselman administration has issued for work and home relief, during its incumbency, $1,190,000 in bonds, all of which were necessary to take care of those in distress, and to aid those in want, and to provide work for the unemployed. Would the Democratic candidate for mayor have this staggering sum placed in the budget for the respective years in which the bonds were issued, and thus increase the burden to the taxpayer during a period when many had difficulty paying the low taxes that were levied? Wasn't it better business, wasn't it more humane, wasn't it more efficient government from a municipal financing standpoint, to spread these payments over a period of years? And don't forget, that while $1,190,000 in bonds were issued for work and home relief, the same Heiselman administration paid off over the same period $1,114,843.90 in obligations, about which I spoke to you earlier in this speech. That staggering sum was paid, and in addition sufficient sums were included in the budget in each and every year so that this city could have efficient, progressive and humane government, and without reducing the salaries of any municipal employee, or without failing to meet any municipal obligation.

Fooling the People

The Democratic candidate for mayor spoke about tax rates, and how we fooled the people with our tax rates. The record is there. You examine it, and then you decide whether he fooled the people, or whether he did. Let us look at the record for his tax rate. The first year, 1932, his tax rate was $56.16 per thousand, quite far removed from our rates. The next year, 1933, his tax rate was $38.60, but how was that arrived at? Take the record again, and it shows that the Carey administration raised assessments to the tune of $1,232,540. This is an odd trick to reduce a tax rate, but necessarily increases the amount of the tax bill. If the assessments had not been raised, and had been left as they were in 1932, his tax rate in 1933 would have been $40.62, instead of $38.60. Now, could that be classed as fooling the people? You answer that.

The Heiselman administration has been one of achievement, sound, progressive and humane government, honestly administered and tirelessly worked at. We submit it to you for your approval or disapproval. In comparing it with the Democratic candidate's administration, we ask you to take into consideration some of the facts that I have given you tonight, and if you desire the kind of government that the Heiselman administration has given you, we ask your support when you go to the polls on Election Day, and if you continue in office we pledge you the same kind of government that you have had for the last six years.

Couple Wed 81 Years

Claim National Record

Mr. and Mrs. William Kelley of Longview, Texas, claim first place in a movie company's search for the couple in the United States which has been married the longest time. The Kelleys are 109 and 105 years old, respectively, and have been married for 81 years.

They claim precedence over Mr. and Mrs. George Gobens, of Lucas, Iowa, who recently celebrated their seventy-seventh wedding anniversary and were selected by the national convention of True Vow Keepers as America's longest-married pair. A search of the records in Louisiana, where the Kelleys were married, and in Jacksonville, Iowa, where the Gobens were married, is now being conducted by those in charge of the competition.

The award offered by the movie concern for the couple married the longest is a 10-day visit in New York, where they will be the company's guests.

The competition is being conducted in connection with a picture now being produced.

Speedy Meteors

Hurting into the earth's atmosphere at speeds varying from 10 to 45 miles a second, meteors are rubbed white-hot by friction with the air; they smoke and frequently explode. But meteorites cool quickly; at their cores, they still have a temperature of 273 degrees below zero, to which they have been cooled during their frictionless ride through outer space. No elements not present on earth ever have been found in meteorites; some are of iron-colored stone, while others are dark and nickel.

Luxurious "Chicken Coop"

The most luxurious "chicken coop" in the world is in Miami, Fla. It was originally planned as a sumptuous hotel, at a cost of more than a million dollars, and was just about completed when the 1929 stock-market crash occurred. Pretentious, even though its windows frame lack glass, its only "guests" for many years have been thousands of scientifically-raised white leghorn chickens.

Will Meet at YMCA

All people interested in singing or playing a musical instrument have been invited by the department of recreation to meet tonight with Siebolt Friesswyk, music specialist of the National Recreation Association, at the YMCA at 8 o'clock to set up a permanent community music program. The meeting was inadvertently announced for last night. Notices of tonight's meeting have been sent out by the department of recreation to people who in past years have graduated from high school with credit for work in the glee club, orchestra or band. Others who are interested in the proposed program are also invited to attend the meeting.

Roofing Business

Clarence McMahon, Bernard S. Samburg and William K. Samburgs have been certified to the county clerk that they are doing business at 105 Ulster avenue, Walden, under the name and style of Independent Roofers.

Pedestrians are involved in two-thirds of all fatal accidents in city traffic and one-third of those in rural areas, the American Automobile Association notes following an intensive three-year study of pedestrian traffic conditions.

Schilling Certifies

Francis J. Schilling, Jr., of 232 North Manor avenue, has certified to the county clerk that he is doing business in Kingston under the name and style of Arch-A-Craft.

Tension of modern living has strengthened the institution of matrimony, Dr. Samuel W. Hartwell, University of Buffalo professor of psychiatry, asserts.

Norwegian officials reported that the German cruiser Emden, (above) namesake of the famous raider of World War days, had seized the American ship, City of Flint, put a prize crew on board and had taken the craft to the Russian Arctic port of Murmansk. The United States government immediately asked Berlin for details, and requested information from Moscow as to what became of the American crew of 42. It was believed the Germans considered the City of Flint was carrying contraband to Great Britain.

Five hundred bushels of baked apples went uncut on the Hoosick-Troy road. They were on a truck driven by Marty Winston, which was destroyed when hot brakes set it afire.

Jimson Weed Which Killed Infant

Last week Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, called attention to the untimely death of a 27-month-old child in Kingston on poisoning caused by swallowing the seed of the Jimson weed. The above photograph shows this deadly plant. The poisonous properties contained in the seed are Tyrosamine and Atropine. The seeds are very small and brown in color, the size of mustard seed. The weed grows freely in the city and is also known as Jamestown weed, thorn apple and stink weed.

The seed is contained in the burr which is shown in the upper right hand corner of the photograph. When the child was treated by a physician it had all the appearance of suffering from belladonna poisoning, according to Dr. Sanford, who advocates that householders cut down this deadly weed when they find it growing on their premises.

When an autopsy was performed on the child more than 200 seeds were found in the intestinal tract of the child. The child lived but a few hours after swallowing the seed.

Murphy Files New Complaint Against Railroad Association

Monsignor Donahue Named Vicar General

New York, Oct. 25 (AP).—The Roman Catholic chancery office of New York has announced the appointment of the Right Rev. Monsignor Joseph P. Donahue, pastor of the Church of the Assumption, as vicar general of the New York archdiocese.

The appointment was made by Archbishop Francis J. Spellman. The chancery said the church would not fill the position of rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, left vacant last week by the death of the Right Rev. Monsignor Michael J. Lavelle.

The Rev. Joseph F. Flannery, senior assistant to Monsignor Lavelle, the chancery said, would become administrator of the cathedral and parish for which he will represent the archbishop.

Walden Boys Have Wild Crime Career

where they will have to answer to several charges.

Car Is Wrecked

Sergeant Hulse said the short-lived career of crime started out apparently when they left home together Monday. They apparently went to Wallkill where they took the Ford car of Edgar Kaup of Wallkill and drove over the mountain to Wawarsing and wrecked the car against a tree. In order to make a get-away they took the Chevrolet car of Morris Henderson of Wawarsing which they abandoned after crossing the mountain. The tank ran dry about three miles out of Wallkill and they hiked to Wallkill where they took the third car, a new 1940 Plymouth owned by DeWitt Crowell of Wallkill.

The Plymouth car they drove around Ulster and Orange counties and finally abandoned it near Washingtonville, Orange county. The pair then hitchhiked back to Newburgh during the night and spent some time along the riverfront.

Arriving in Newburgh the pair proceeded to spend some of the money they allegedly took from one place they are supposed to have entered and paid a visit to the movies.

While they were in the show State Police and Newburgh police officers were cruising about in search of the pair.

Couldn't Start Taxi

Sergeant Hulse had ascertained that the two boys were missing from their home in Walden and that they had been in a certain lunch room late at night. Both boys had been in difficulty before and it was believed by the troopers the two were responsible for the chain of crime. However, they evaded the police and after leaving the show they took a Newburgh taxi which they proceeded to drive out to Highland Falls where the lads apparently became exhausted from their activities and decided to take a sleep. When they attempted to start the car they were unable to do so and sought a ride back to Newburgh. They hailed Mr. Wells who brought them to Newburgh and turned them over to the police.

Beside theft of the four cars the boys also will face a charge of breaking into the Moran general store Monday night at Gardiner. Mr. Moran reported to State Police that someone had entered his store by breaking a window and unlocking the door. A revolver, three shot-guns, a quantity of food and clothing was reported missing, also a small amount of money.

At Wallkill the Devo Lumber Co. office was also entered and it is believed the boys also did this job. Whether money was taken is not known but various small articles including a flashlight were reported missing.

When the lads drove out to Washingtonville they told police they had made the trip in the Crowell car which they had taken from the garage. When they abandoned the car they had a revolver in a stone-wall near the point where they abandoned the car. Sergeant Hulse said that he would seek to have one of the lads go with him today to that point in an effort to recover the gun. The revolver was taken from the Moran store.

Program for Ball To Be Announced

William T. Roedel, chairman of the entertainment committee for the American Legion Victory Ball to be held Friday night, November 10, at the municipal auditorium, today said that plans for the program would be ready for announcement this week.

Roedel, who as president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, brought Rudy Vallee to Kingston last year, and packed the auditorium to capacity, said he hoped to stage a show this year topping any presentation ever offered to the public.

Last week, Madame Roedel and Robert Isenard, vice chairman of entertainment committee, conferred with Nat Abramson of WOR entertainment bureau concerning the program for the Legion ball and auditioned acts for the show.

One of the singers who impressed the two Legion representatives was Sylvia Fross, who recently headlined the vaudeville program at Loew's State Theatre, New York city, a vocalist of re-

Walker Valley Woman Loses Arm; Troopers Are Seeking Driver; Condition Is 'Fair'

Mrs. Mary Carlon, 63, who conducts a boarding house on Route 52, at Walker Valley, is in the Horton Memorial Hospital, Middletown, in a very critical condition, as the result of being struck by a hit-and-run driver about 8 o'clock last night. Mrs. Carlon suffered the loss of a very large quantity of blood when her left arm was completely severed between the elbow and shoulder.

Up to noon today, despite a general alarm and a search by a number of troopers that has continued since Sergeant Hopkins of Ellenville was notified of the affair, the driver of the car, or truck, had not been located. Troopers also were unable to find any trace of the severed arm or the sleeve of a heavy gray coat that was torn off with it.

Mrs. Carlon had left her home to cross the road and call upon a neighbor when she was struck down. It was not long after the accident that Howard Sheeley of

Names of Boice and Decker Will Be Listed on Ballot

The name of Henry R. Decker as Democratic candidate for the office of justice of the peace for the full term will appear on the town of Wawarsing ballots Election Day and the name of Horace Boice of the town of Ulster will also appear on the Democratic ticket in that town for the office of town superintendent of highways.

Mr. Boice is the regularly designated Republican candidate and has the endorsement of the Democratic party.

The names will appear on the ballots as a result of an agreement reached yesterday between party leaders at a conference before Justice Harry E. Schrick.

The board of elections, a two-member board, was deadlocked on the question of whether the names should go on the Democratic ballot or not. Commissioner Joseph Epstein, Democratic member, held they should and Commissioner Townsend Fitzgerald, Republican member, held that the names should not go on since they were not properly on the ballot. The deadlock threatened to hold up the printing of the ballots pending court action to determine the question.

When the board became deadlocked, a proceeding was instituted to bring the matter before the court on an order to show cause why the names should not go on the ballot. However, at the conference yesterday the Democratic representatives agreed to file with the board of elections a certified copy of the minutes of the Democratic caucus for the two towns in which the committee on vacancies had been authorized by the caucus to make nominations for vacancies for office which might exist at the conclusion of the convention.

It was in accordance with that resolution that the committee on vacancies in Wawarsing named Mr. Decker and in Ulster endorsed the Republican candidate, Horace Boice.

When the designations came before the Board of Elections they were rejected by the Republican member on the grounds that the committee on vacancies had no authority to name candidates for offices to which no designation had been made by the convention. It was held that the power to designate by the committee on vacancies was prescribed by the election law and that this power could be exercised only where the vacancy was caused by disqualifica-

Appraisal Group Compensation Set By Supreme Court

Compensation at the rate of $50 per day allowed for 20 days meetings together with expenses has been approved by Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schrick to commissioners of appraisal appointed by the court of hear claims arising out of the damage claims of residents and property owners along the Esopus creek from Shandaken tunnel outlet to the Ashokan reservoir. This compensation is allowed for hearings held in connection with and in making the fifth and sixth separate report.

The commissioners are allowed in addition to the $1,000 for compensation the further sums as follows:

Commissioner John F. Wadlin of Highland $65.35 for expenses and H. Lynden Hatch $118.80.

This commission was appointed to hear claims of persons along the Esopus creek whose property has been damaged by use of the creek as an open aqueduct to convey water from Gilboa reservoir to the Ashokan reservoir by the city of New York and also for a right to continue to use the creek in future.

There has been such a marked pickup in railroad traffic during the past month or two that the car service division of the Association of American Railroads has issued a circular letter to members and all shippers' advisory boards, soliciting their cooperation in handling the increased traffic.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Steel, rails and aircraft found favor in today's stock market and leaders added fractions to around a point. Heaviest business was at the opening and before luncheon time. Then the pace slowed, near the final hour many issues were under their best.

Transfers were at the rate of about 1,300,000 shares. As the Senate neared a final vote on repeal of the arms embargo, with leading proponents predicting it would be lifted, the aircrafts and other war shares benefited. Possibility of an early conclusion to hostilities abroad was believed further off as a result of the speech of German Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop, in which he declared for a "fight to the finish."

American stocks were higher in both London and Amsterdam. The latter bourse turned down a bit at the close. Bonds pointed upward as did most important commodities.

Prominent among gainers most of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, North American Aviation, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Santa Fe, New York Central, Westinghouse Electric, du Pont, Union Carbide, U. S. Gypsum, Celanese, General Tire and International Nickel.

Backward were International Harvester, Caterpillar, Tractor American Can and Allied Chemical.

In the curb Aluminum Co., Heyden Chemical, Quaker Oats and Waco Aircraft climbed a bit. On the heels of predictions that last week's freight carloadings would establish a peak for the year, came news that Attorney General Murphy had authorized filing of an antitrust complaint against the Association of American Railroads and 236 individual carriers.

The bill charged the lines with combining to restrain trade by agreeing not to give to motor carriers the same cooperation in carrying freight and passengers which they customarily extended to each other.

Home Building Now at Highest Peak Since 1929

Evidence was presented yesterday that home building, which has lagged while other lines of activity were showing participation in the business upturn, is now progressing and at the best rate since 1929. President E. L. Ostendorf told the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards that there would be 300,000 new dwelling units, constructed during 1939. This estimate, based on reports from boards throughout the country, shows a gain of over 22 per cent over 1938, when the total was 245,000 and 42 per cent over 1937 when it is estimated that 211,000 new homes were built. In 1929 the figure was 400,000 units, while the high point, the peak of the building boom of the 20's, was in 1925, when 752,000 dwellings were constructed. At the same time a rise in building material prices is under way, since the outbreak of the war and warning has been given that demand for labor as a result of the war may bear directly upon the cost of labor used for home building.

Despite seasonal decline in canning industry and slackening in auto output due to labor trouble, industrial employment increased more than 200,000 from September to October, Labor Secretary Perkins estimated.

On basis of figures from the first 21 railroads to report carloadings last week increased over the previous week to around 855,000 cars, which would be a new nine years peak.

Estimates are that since the outbreak of the European war Japanese purchases in this country have risen about one-third. Rise is mostly in purchases of iron, steel, machinery and oil. This condition is said to be largely responsible for Japan's recent action in the pound, as formerly, instead of the pound, as formerly, New price list issued by Celanese Corp., effective for December business, shows price advances ranging two to ten cents a pound. Reports from first 15 roads indicate that Class 1 roads in September had net operating income substantially above August and well above the like month for the year. Norfolk & Western had September net of $4,139,016, or $280 on common vs. net of $2,645,371, $183 a share, in 1938 month to date.

Although averages showed small gains on the New York Exchange yesterday stocks failed to make any great headway, in a 1,600,000 share market. Aircraft shares were prominent among the 35 issues that made new highs for 1939. They showed industrial, in the Dow-Jones averages up 36 point for the day, to 154.07, just edged in on the up side, 0.2 point, to 34.57, and utilities advanced .06 point, to 26.15.

Commodities showed a late rise, but the general level was off at the close of the day. Cotton closed with a gain of one to five points, wheat was off 3-8 cent a bushel at Chicago. Domestic sugar futures went into new low ground, a price of 15,000 bags of Cuban sugar, at a price equivalent to 3.30 cents a pound on a duty-free basis. The spot price on duty-free raws was established at 3.25 cents on a cargo of Puerto Rican sugar for early November clearance. There were sharp declines in the silk market, both in Yokohama and New York. Rubber was weak, hides firm.

Majestic Radio and Television Corp. has filed a voluntary petition for reorganization. Petition lists liabilities at $1,272,337 and assets at $1,553,228. The company seeks to pay half its claims in stock, rest in cash. The business will continue to operate.

Commonwealth & Southern reports consolidated net earnings of $13,028,163, equal to 12 cents on common, for the year ended September 30. Compares with $10,462,937, or four cents a share, for 12 months ended September 30, 1938.

Baptists Oppose Legalized Betting

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—The New York Baptist Missionary Convention drafted for debate today resolutions opposing an amendment legalizing pari-mutuel betting on horse races and urging adjudication of disputed labor points by legal procedure rather than by strikes.

One proposal calls for the "churches of this convention to arouse their people to the utmost" against the betting amendment which will be placed before the electorate November 7.

The labor resolution outlines a basis for "better understanding and adjustment of the problems of employment" and recommends: "Arising of a public demand for adjudication of disputed points by a legal procedure rather than by strikes, lockouts and other methods that upset employment and production at the cost of great waste."

It recognizes "the right of labor to organize" and establishes "the responsibility of labor organizations for destruction of property and acts of violence."

A suggestion that President Roosevelt and the state department "take the initiative in calling a world economic conference to discuss possible solutions to economic maladjustments" is contained in another resolution.

Resolutions heard yesterday predicted a future conflict between church and state in this country. "If there is any one feature of the status quo of American religion that seems obvious," the Rev. M. D. Lowen of Brockport, N. Y., said, "it is the inevitable conflict of a state which is ever widening its powers over new areas of life and a church which is gripped by an expanding social mission to all life."

4-H Club Groups Meet in County

A packing and grading meeting was held Friday, October 20, at 74 John street, Kingston, by a 4-H Club group. The meeting began at 5:30 o'clock with a pancake supper, after which Spencer Dunham, county department of agricultural markets at Albany, gave instruction in packing and grading of apples to the 4-H boys of Orange, Greene, Columbia, Dutchess and Ulster counties. They learned the defect toleration for the different United States grades of apples, their color requirements and color toleration.

Those who attended this meeting were as follows: Columbia, Robert Dyer, county club agent; Thomas Sudin, James Serodin and Paul Serodin; Dutchess, H. H. Tozier, Jr., county club agent, Miss Charlotte Waters, associate county club agent, James Lewis, John Lewis, Donald Holsapple, Robert Holsapple, Quentin Moore, Sidney Mead, Douglas Freer, Raymond Vail, Theodore Cross, Jr., Robert Cross, Francis Emans, Orange, George Earl, county club agent, Lewis Andrews, Sr., Lewis Andrews, Jr., Eli Gonic, Earl Helstrom, Paul Ringbale, Allen Stage, Jr., Robert Clausen, Charles Hoffman, Robert Cartwright, Sylvester Gorse, Henry Reche, John Tover, Henry Cleeves, Charles Cleeves, Charles Hiller, Frank Davis, Donald McGee, James McGee, Chester Dunn, Edward Crist and Robert Bochi, Ulster, E. R. Bower, county club agent, Robert Coy, William Bruns, George Auchmoody, Chester Coy and Peter Dolce, Greene, Earl Brougham, county club agent, and eight members.

Mrs. Nelson Dies

Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Richard H. Nelson died at her home here last night. She was 77 and the widow of the late Episcopal bishop of Albany who served 25 years until 1932.

Meetings to End

The meetings being held at the Alliance Gospel Church, corner of Pine and Franklin streets, by the Rev. Walter Williamson, blind evangelist, will come to an end on Friday evening. The meetings will continue until Friday evening, starting promptly at 7:45 o'clock with a song service.

Scenes as 4-H Clubs Convene

The Ulster County 4-H Clubs convened at the municipal auditorium Saturday night to celebrate their tenth anniversary of club work in the county and also club achievement day. Approximately 500 boys and girls and their friends gathered at the auditorium for the meeting. Of the 500 present 432 received achievement pins in recognition of their work. In the top photo are left to right, Pratt Bouce, vice-president of Kiwanis and a member of the 4-H Club executive board; Eleanor Morehouse, who was chosen as Ulster county's delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress to be held at Chicago; Alderman-at-large John Schwenk, who officially welcomed the delegates to the city and Harold V. Clayton, cashier of the State of New York National Bank, who awarded the achievement pins to club members. In the bottom photo County Agent Edmund Bowers awards a ten year pin to Miss Phoebe Cheshire of Flatbush in recognition of her service as a leader, as Miss Harriet Thomas, also of Flatbush, looks on. Miss Cheshire and Miss Thomas are leaders of the Pioneer Club of Flatbush and have the record of completing the club projects every year with 100 per cent.

Byk Says Others Sought His Pardon

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Leo P. Byk, alleged Brooklyn slot-machine "czar," told the State Senate today "two or three" jurists besides Kings County Judge sought his pardon on a grand jury charge from the then Governor Alfred E. Smith in 1926.

Names of the other judges who interceded with the Governor several years after Byk admittedly served a term in Elmira Reformatory were not mentioned in removal proceedings against the 63-year-old Martin.

"I will not ask you their names since I realize you are in a peculiar position here," Chief Defense Counsel Martin W. Littleton said. Martin, who unsuccessfully defended Byk on the grand larceny count in 1918, is charged with misrepresenting later the "exemplary" life of the witness in correspondence with Governor Smith. Byk was called by the prosecution to support an accusation the defendant was shown "defects" of character unfitting him for the bench.

The witness, who testified yesterday to a long standing "social" friendship with Martin, admitted he has received "great notoriety" as a "slot machine king."

"And very unjustly too," he added. On re-direct examination by Assistant Attorney General John Harlan Amen, Byk denied he ever discussed with Martin any of numerous cases in magistrates' courts involving operation of his machines.

Later, questioned by Senator Roy M. Page, Binghamton, he asserted he never interceded for "any friends" before Judge Martin's court.

"Ever do anything politically for Judge Martin?" Page asked. "No sir," Byk replied.

Littleton announced the defendant would take the stand again late in the day to begin denial of two weeks of testimony.

New Paltz Girl Is Shot in Leg

Elaine Lang, 12, of New Paltz, was shot in the leg Tuesday afternoon while on her way home from school. She was removed to the Kingston Hospital, where today her condition was reported as apparently good.

From what could be learned she was shot in the leg by another child who had a .32 calibre rifle.

La Follette Would Have U. S. Voters Decide Overseas War

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis) proposed today that the administration's bill to repeal the arms embargo be amended to require that a national advisory election be held before Congress could declare an overseas war.

His proposal came as the Senate's rush toward a final vote on the neutrality revision legislation bogged down in a fresh blow of speech-making. Leaders of both sides of the arms embargo controversy said the final ballot was unlikely before tomorrow or Friday.

Douglas Says U. S. Spending Done on Unsound Principle

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Lewis Douglas, former U. S. budget director, criticized government spending today on the ground that it had changed in principle since 1933 from sound objectives to unsound ones.

In an address prepared for the New York Herald Tribune's annual forum on current problems, Douglas, now president of McGill University in Montreal, enumerated four phases of spending in the present administration, in which he served for a year and a half.

In 1933-35, he said, spending was aimed at averting "a complete debacle" and in providing relief—in which purpose it was simply the excusable lesser of two evils.

In the subsequent years, he asserted, government spending progressed to the objectives of economic pump-priming and remedying a purported restriction in opportunities for private investment.

The latter objectives, he said, imply that some government agency eventually must make "two highly technical and exceedingly delicate decisions"—"When in the business cycle shall public expenditures be reduced, and 'By how much'?"

He questioned whether Congress or any parliament had the necessary impartial viewpoint and technical economic knowledge to do this.

"Perhaps government... will be unwilling to assume the risk of inducing a depression by retrenchment," Douglas suggested.

"In this event the policy of administering ever-increasing doses of public funds in an effort to maintain a rising or even a stationary level of economic activity. 'Ultimately, as the more recent experiences in Europe, indeed, as all experiences, reveal, this volume of public spending produces economic disintegration manifest, ed by wide-spread public distress.'"

Thereupon, "totalitarian techniques" for regulation of prices, production, and distribution have to be resorted to, and these are "incompatible with responsible, representative constitutional government," Douglas said.

Chichester Homes Are Going 'Under Hammer' Saturday

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock 44 two-story dwellings formerly occupied by the workers at the William O. Schwarzwald wood-working plant at Chichester will go under the auctioneer's hammer.

This sale, under the direction of Joseph P. Day, Inc., New York auctioneers, appears to be the closing chapter in the commercial history of the once prosperous mountain village.

With the sale Saturday of the 44 houses as individual parcels to the highest bidder the residents of the village see all possible hope of a resumption of the Schwarzwald enterprise vanishing. The village of Chichester in its more prosperous days was owned and operated by the Schwarzwald concern, the houses were company owned and rented to the workers at low rentals.

The village has its own sewage system installed by the city of New York to prevent contamination of the streams which feed the Esopus creek and form a part of the Ashokan water-shed. There is also a village water system, all of the premises have electric lights and all village improvements.

When the woodworking plant was forced to close because of financial difficulty, residents hoped that some firm might take over the plant and operate it but plans to sell the plant were gradually dummed as each step in the plan to retain the industry failed.

The latest move to realize something from the plant caused a survey of the parcels to be made. G. Wallace Codwise of this city made a survey and the property was divided up into individual parcels for the purpose of offering them as individual properties.

Each house has been allocated its own grounds and will be offered for sale as a residence property. The houses are all two-story structures. Located two miles beyond Poughkeepsie and 25 miles from Kingston the hope of the auctioneers is that the properties will be bought for year-around or summer dwellings. The houses range from five to eight rooms and many of the properties border a good trout stream.

In the community is the former company store, school, church and recreation center.

Since the plan to dispose of the houses as individual parcels was undertaken considerable money has been expended in painting and repairing the properties for the auction sale, which will take place Saturday, beginning at 3 o'clock.

Lack of work has caused most of the families to seek work elsewhere during the past several months and with the sale of the houses, those residents, who live in hopes that the Schwarzwald factory might again be put in operation, see all of their expectations of an industrial village disappear.

Local Death Record

Charles Alsford, 65, died on Sunday in Modena after an illness of about three weeks. Born in the Town of Gardiner on December 26, 1873, he had lived in Gardiner and vicinity the greater part of his life and was a member of the Methodist Church. Survivors are his widow, Grace Hoffman Alsford; three sons, Charles Jr., of Gardiner; Clifford of New Paltz; and Ernest Alsford of Modena; and four daughters, Mrs. Lillian Denton of Ulster Park; Mrs. Edith Dunn of Staten Island; Mrs. Mabel Coddington of Gardiner; and Mrs. Alberta Osterhoudt of Kingston. Funeral services were held today with burial in Bruyswick cemetery.

Lyons Is Named

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Thomas J. Lyons, New York city, was named today president of the New York State Federation of Labor, succeeding George Mooney, who resigned to become secretary to the American Federation of Labor. Lyons was named to the $10,000 a year post by unanimous action of federation's executive council. It becomes effective January 1.

Red Cross Allocation

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The American Red Cross said today it had allocated $25,000 for sick and wounded Poles under care of the German Red Cross in part of Poland now in German hands.

Three Are Hurt As Autos Crash

Three persons were injured and there was one arrest on a reckless driving charge as the result of a collision between two automobiles at Napanoch at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Fred W. Harvey of the Powelton Club, Newburgh, was taken to the Veterans' Hospital, Ellenville, suffering from a fractured nose, possible fracture of the jaw and other injuries. Omar Thomas, driver of the car in which Harvey was riding, who gave his address as 48 Terrington street, Newburgh, was injured about the chin and nose and Anthony Lachowicz of Yonkers was injured about the head.

As learned by Sergeant Hopkins and Trooper Obunahich, who with Trooper Reynolds of the B. C. L. investigated the accident, a car driven by Adolph Riga of Ellenville, formerly of Yonkers, a worker on the New York water project, had pulled out from the lunch stand near the Farrington restaurant just north of the Napanoch bridge and had crossed the state road when it was struck by the car driven by Thomas,

CLUBS PERSONALS

League Has Sculpture Lecture

Junior League was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Woodstock on Monday.

Mr. Woodstock, a well-known sculptor, discussed the approach to sculpture.

It is not, according to Mr. Woodstock, the philosophy of the artist that is so important, but the finished piece.

A good piece of art is one which expresses an ideal the artist is worth while expressing.

Each artist treats his subject a little differently from the other artist for he interprets his ideal through his own eyes.

The Greek artist was guided by their gods and goddesses, the artists of the Renaissance by the Christian religion, the Gothic artists by the church.

Today, the field of art does not still but it does lack dynamic.

Mr. Zimm showed the drawing he prepared for the World's Art Commission. His theme was Democracy's growth. This was represented by four monuments and a shrine on Constitution.

The monuments representing the Magna Charta (Personal freedom), the Confirmation (Freedom of property), the Bill of Rights (Freedom of religion), and the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Zimm also discussed the art of the Soviet, Italian and French schools. In his studio, Mr. Zimm showed the members several pieces of sculpture.

He explained the kinds of stone and wood used by sculptors.

Some of Mr. Zimm's works are the General Slocum memorial in the park, the Memorial fountain at Riverside Drive and 16th street, both in New York, and pieces of sculpture in the St. Anthonis Church, Brooklyn, and the St. Thomas Church in Woodhaven.

The meeting was planned by Mrs. Charles O'Reilly, chairman of the Arts Committee. Following the talk, Mrs. Zimm served tea, assisted by Miss Florence Cordis.

Zelle-Pomeroy
Miss Helen Pomeroy of 81 Fair street and Robert Zelle of 167 Green street, both of this city, were married Sunday, October 22, at St. Joseph's rectory. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edmund Burke. The attendants were Miss Gilda Russo and Richard Shortell. After spending a week in New York and Washington the couple will reside at 51 Fair street.

Theatre Association Meeting
The Ulster County Theatre Association will hold its first regular monthly meeting of the new season at the Municipal Auditorium on Thursday night, October 26, at 8 o'clock. Plans for the year's activities, the election of officers for the new year and other items of importance will be discussed.

It is planned at this time to select a permanent meeting place where all phases of the group's interests can be carried on. With the present tentative program of major productions, work shop plays, dancing and singing groups and social events, the association feels it should have such a place. Everyone interested in the theatre is cordially invited to attend and take an active part in the meeting.

Good Taste Today
by Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)
Do You Ask Personal Questions?
Dear Mrs. Post: How can one avoid answering personal questions without hurting feelings? There are many such situations but the latest one was the question asked me unexpectedly by an acquaintance: "Would you mind telling me that you pay for your apartment?"
Answer: That is an unusually excusable question from people who are house hunting, which comparatively few tenants object to answering. In fact, I don't see how you can fail to answer unless you feel you could not be helpful. If, for example, yours is a sub-lease or a very long lease, you can then say that you don't know what a new lease of its kind would be. But if you have just rented an apartment and others exactly like yours are for rent, refusing to answer merely puts the questioner to the trouble of having to ask the agent. In other words, you are merely being discourteously unhelpful. To those who ask only out of curiosity, it is simplest to change the subject and fail to hear the question.

Fashion or Feeling
Dear Mrs. Post: There is a young girl who is the social leader of my daughter's set. Recently she lost her grandmother—who lived here too, and was very much beloved. So far there hasn't been one sign of mourning by this girl or her sisters for the grandmother, not even by their mother, who was the grandmother's own daughter. I remarked to my daughter what I thought of their heartlessness and she said, "Oh, making a display of grief is in very bad taste. Well-bred people are supposed to do their grieving on the inside of the front door." It all sounds pretty callous to me, and would be much easier to say than to do for those who felt grief.

Answer: I really don't think it is because they care less—but it is true that very much less mourning is worn now than heretofore. People do not so swathe themselves in crepe and shut themselves away behind drawn blinds as they used to do. And many people do not believe in mourning. But even so, respect shown by dignity of behavior—by retirement from conspicuous social gaiety—is expected now as it has always been. On the other hand, one cannot measure the grief by the depth of a black border on one's card or on writing paper, or the somberness of one's clothes. Of course, if these girls are not only in color but going about to parties of every kind—if their mother is behaving the same way—then I do think criticism of their heartlessness is likely to be given, even though it may not be deserved.

(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad, however, to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "Visiting Cards and When to Leave Them." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 134, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Steady Your Nerves With Fresh Interests

Don't Shut the World Away
"Take it away! I'm too nervous to talk to a soul," wails this young woman.

So her husband once more makes excuses for her over the phone, offends one of her few remaining friends.

Yet shutting herself away from people is the worst thing she can do. A nervous person often is likely to be self-centered, to indulge in lonely brooding. The vivacity and keen reactions natural to the high-strung then turn into jitters, headaches, insomnia.

What is needed, if you're of this type, is more interests, not fewer. Join a club or church group to make new friends. Bridge, nature study—these turn mind and emotions outward, give you lively personality expression.

Watch, too, your physical health. Walk regularly to get fresh air. Eat lots of the foods that supply Vitamin B, which keeps appetite normal and nerves healthy.

And with healthy nerves, what joy of living is yours! In our 32-page booklet, a well-known physician explains physical and psychological causes of nerves. Tells how to overcome nerve troubles such as fatigue, indigestion, irritability by sane living and right diet.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of "OVERCOMING NERVES AND EVERY-DAY HEALTH PROBLEMS," to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Phoenicia, Oct. 25—Mr. and Mrs. Rex Mead, of Des Moines, Ia., and Mrs. Julia Short, of Catskill, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Umhey.

Mrs. A. P. Loomis was a Margaretville caller, Monday. Little Jimmie Short is reported nearly recovered from the whooping cough. His sister, Nancy, has had it for a few days. These are the only cases in the place.

Miss Donohue has closed her home and returned to the city. Miss Mildred Rottger, who has been staying at the Koch's has returned to Brooklyn.

Mrs. Fred Myers, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Edna Cole, has returned to her home in Kingston.

Mrs. John Duffy and sons have returned to Ossining.

Mrs. Anna Knight and son, Richard, have returned from New York.

Two Stellar Grid Contests Are On Eastern Football Slate

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Two games that are guaranteed to be interesting any season, Dartmouth vs. Harvard and Pittsburgh vs. Fordham, share top billing on the eastern football program this week-end. Yet they provide about as sharp a contrast as the gridiron can offer.

The difference is summed up in the informal designations of the groups in which they generally play. Dartmouth and Harvard are two of the oldest members of the "Ivy League," while Pitt and Fordham are leading lights among the teams that have been grouped for convenience as the "Poison Ivy" circuit.

Or to go at it another way, Harvard and Dartmouth first met on the football field in 1882, and this is the 46th game of their series. Naturally there have been plenty of dizzy doings the old grads can remember as they come back for another meeting. The first Pitt-Fordham battle was in 1905, but they immediately set about creating football history by playing three successive scoreless ties before the Panthers finally won a game, 24-13, last fall.

In the 80's and 90's, Dartmouth was just a pushover for the mighty Crimson teams. The Indians didn't score a point until 1901—their 17th game—while losing by such scores as 70-0. Things have changed considerably since that time, for Dartmouth has won the last five Harvard games and has a good chance to make it six in a row.

They're clearly not the best teams in the east this year. Harvard, after building a good impression in its rout of Chicago, promptly took a licking from Penn last week, while Dartmouth's only "major" game was a scoreless tie with Navy.

Fordham and Pitt also are somewhat short of equalling their reputations of past years, when they were the east's leading exponents of rock-em, sock-em football. The Panthers turned passers this year with considerable success until they ran afoul of Duquesne last Saturday. Now they're starting all over again. And Fordham's Rams just haven't had the kind of offense or defense to cope with such rivals as Alabama and Tulane, losing to both by close margins. Against each other, however, they may put up one of their old-style scraps.

Tony Ferrara Wins White Plains Bout

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP).

Another record-breaking crowd, 8,223 persons, jammed its way into the county center last night to see Tony Ferrara, 147½, of Mount Vernon, win an eight-round decision over Marty Martino, 151½, of Brooklyn, in the main bout.

The crowd showed disapproval of the decision in Ferrara's favor after a lively bout but the Westchester boy landed cleaner and more effective blows.

Ohio State Faces Hard Test Against Cornell on Saturday

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Ohio State Buckeyes will be well advised to practice hard this week and iron out any family differences they may have before they engage Cornell next Saturday at Columbus, for they are going to encounter a lot of football talent.

Cornell is the latest of the so-called "Ivy" schools to forget some of its polite upbringing and go big and tough in a football way. This new attitude toward the game might not last at Ithaca any better than it did at Princeton a few years ago, but for the time being the Big Red is up to no good.

Off its form in last week's 47-0 rout of Penn State, Coach Carl Snavely's team is one of the best looking the east has produced in years. In polish and sheer rugged power, it is reminiscent of the great Pittsburgh teams, though it does not have a single star of the magnitude of Biggie Goldberg, for instance.

Whether the Ithacans really are this good will not be known for certain until they sample Ohio State. Possibly the Buckeyes will probe around and discover a serious weakness in the easterners' defense. But I don't think they will. And the Buckeyes had best have their guard up when Cornell gets hold of the ball.

Snavely a Star

Snavely undoubtedly is one of the country's best coaches, despite his comparatively brief record in the big time. He has done wonders at Cornell since he replaced the veteran Gil Dobie. Players, students and old grads are thoroughly sold on him.

There were long years in the Dobie regime when the Cornell Alumni stayed strictly away from Ithaca on football Saturdays. They didn't even talk much football. But lately they have begun swarming back into the pretty little town on week-ends to make the nights hideous with their caterwauling of Far Above Cayuga's Waters.

Cornell's new football "attitude" has given Snavely a bundle of fine material to work with. He has a couple of good lines and at least eight excellent backs. There appears little, in fact, to choose between the Big Red first and second teams.

The team's blocking is exceptionally spirited and sure, and all its ball carriers run like they were being prodded with a pitchfork. They never fool around looking for an opening, and it takes a good, firm tackle to halt their flight. Their passing attack is so fast and tricky that the referee had to call back a pair of their completions last Saturday because he felt they had been "screened."

Another Victory For Armstrong

Los Angeles, Oct. 25 (AP)—Henry Armstrong moves his nationwide barnstorming tour toward Denver today, his welterweight crown still intact.

Hurricane Hank successfully defended the title last night in a 10-round bout with Jimmy Garrison of Kansas City—an encounter that started slow, gained momentum and had the 10,000 fight fans in an uproar at the finish.

Armstrong, weighing 138½, dropped Garrison for a one-count in the eighth and was dealing out murderous punishment at the final gong, but the Kansas City lad warded off a second knockdown blow and earned a big hand from the crowd. He weighed 139½.

Armstrong's next engagement is with Rugged Bobby Facho, Los Angeles veteran, October 30, in Denver.

Houston, Tex., Fritz Zivic, 145, Pittsburgh, outpointed Kid Azteca, 150, Mexico City (10).

New York — Lenny Mancini, 134½, Youngstown, O., stopped Bobby Sylvester, 135½, Tampa, Fla., (3).

Chicago, Oct. 25 (AP)—The American League's most valuable player for the 1939 season was Joe DiMaggio, star of the New York Yankees world championship club.

His selection by a committee of 24 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America emphasized once again the fact that power dominates the junior circuit.

DiMaggio's past season with the Yankees was the best of his four in the big-time, his bat carving out a .381 mark, tops for the league. He knocked out 30 homers and drove home 126 runs, by far his most brilliant season.

Four times in the past nine years the batting champion has won the most valuable award and only once has a pitcher been given the honor—in 1931 when Robert Moses Grove, then of Philadelphia, was the recipient.

DiMaggio polled a total of 280 points out of a possible 336, getting 15 first place votes out of 24. Each first place vote counted 14 points, second place votes counted nine points, third place eight points and so on down to 10th place which was worth one point.

3 Seconds for Yanks

The Yankee centerfielder got three second-place votes, three third, one fourth and two fifth. Jimmy Foxx, Boston's slugging first baseman and most valuable player three times already, was second in the voting with 170 points although only one writer gave him a first place nod. Bob Feller, Cleveland pitcher, collected three first place votes and a total of 155 points for third place.

Ted Williams, Boston rookie gardener, and Charles Ruffing, Yankee pitcher, placed fourth and fifth, respectively, with 126 and 116 points, but neither was given a first place ballot. Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher, rated sixth at 110, including three top votes.

Next in Order

Dutch Leonard, Washington pitcher; Bob Johnson, Philadelphia outfielder; Joe Gordon, Yankee second baseman, and Mike Kreevich, Chicago outfielder, rated next in that order with 71, 52, 43 and 38 points respectively. Leonard, who won 20 games for a sixth place club and Kreevich, got one first place vote apiece.

Others receiving votes included: Clint Brown, Chicago pitcher, 34; Ken Keltner, Cleveland third baseman, 26; George McQuinn, St. Louis first baseman, 24; Charles Gehring, Detroit second baseman, 21; Bob Grove, Boston pitcher, 17; Joe Cronin, Boston shortstop, 15; Ted Lyons, Chicago pitcher, 13; Henry Greenberg, Detroit first baseman, 12, and Buck Newsom, Detroit pitcher, 11.

BLOCKING DOES THE TRICK—

AP Feature Service

Louder than the rasping voice of the most exasperated coach, these pictures shout the meaning of effective interference. And the results of the games from which the pictures are taken might stand as pretty conclusive proof that the team which wins is the team which affords protection for its ballhandlers. In the top picture a Pennsylvania back is waltzing through an avenue cleared of hostile Yale blues. Penn won, 6 to 0.

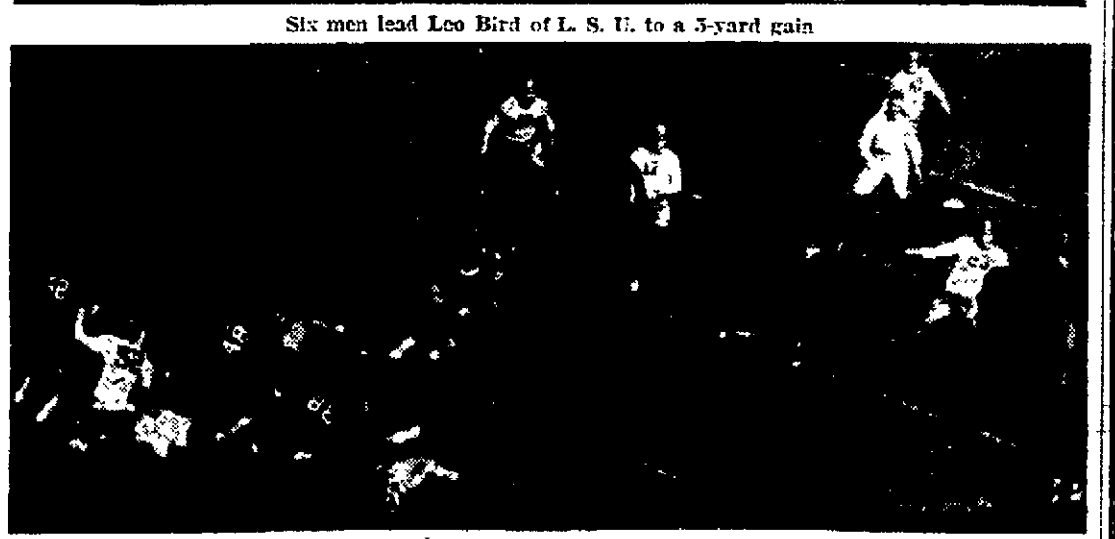

Next picture down is one of the year's best, showing mass interference as illustrated by Louisiana State against Holy Cross. L. S. U. won, 26-7. "Protection for the passer" is the lesson in the bottom picture. Alabama blockers kept Fordham rushers out of the way until the "Bama hurler" (58) could spot his man (16) and get the pass away. Bama won, 7-6.

$1.52 set aside per week or $6.58 per month on the average is all you need to repay a $100 cash loan in full—including principal and all charges—on Personal's new 20 month plan. For monthly repayments on other size loans from $20 to $300, come in or telephone and full information will be gladly given you.

Personal's simple method for obtaining a loan has helped us to become the Largest Loan Company in New York. Here is all you have to do. Go to the address listed below and fill out a simple application. Quickly as it's approved, your money will be ready. You don't need co-makers. We require no stocks or bonds as security—no wage assignments. There are no embarrassing questions; friends or employers will not know.
